Pearlington resident question sewer project

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The citizen's committee in Pearlington held its weekly meeting at the Pearlington Community Center on Wednesday. About a dozen people attended the meeting.

Discussion focused on concerns both about the layout of the new collection system slated to begin installation in June and what the system would cost monthly when the time comes to hook up to the service. So far, the board has made no official guarantees on rates, attendees said, though an estimated rate of $35 a month has been suggested. Rates need to be published so that we can be sure that they are equal for everyone, said Bill Fricke, and so everyone, residential or commercial customers will be treated fairly.

Late last week, board president Ronnie Cuevas said that once the phases are actually out to bid, the board will have a working idea of how much costs will actually be. Rates will be set officially at that time at a board meeting, Cuevas said, for both commercial and residential users. Rates will be recorded in the minutes of the meeting and a rate chart will be created. The board plans to hire employees, like any other district to handle such things as installations, billing, and complaints, Cuevas said.

Missing or unrecorded board minutes have been a major complaint of the citizen's group. Without a record of proceedings, many say the board is not accountable for decisions made or money spent. Residents also expressed concern with the fact that many times board meetings are adjourned before any public comment is allowed. If the meeting is adjourned, then comments are not officially a part of the record.

Many members of the group also think that funding already allocated for the system should go to service the most populated area of the community, Phase 3, rather than what they say are the more sparsely populated areas that make up Phases 1 and 2, the first in line to be completed.

Phase 2, already funded and scheduled to get underway in early summer, will serve about 282 households with a construction cost of about $2,974,702. Phase 1 will serve about 65 households with a construction cost of about $1,186,680, and Phase 3 will serve about 393 households with a construction cost of about $2,745,530. Funding for Phase 1 has been allocated and planners are working to secure funding for Phase 3.

The temporary package plant will serve treatment needs of the first two phases said engineer Geof Clemens, however, allocation of Phase 3 funding may require a commitment from Southern Regional, guaranteeing when the permanent plant will be completed.

On April 7, at 7 p.m. engineers for the project will be at the monthly board meeting to answer questions and concerns about the layout for the various phases and the reasons behind the design or the order in which they are being completed.

An informational meeting will also be held on April 6, at 7 p.m. at the Charles B. Murphy School Gym.

Digital engineer Bruce Newton will be on hand to answer questions about the new package plant slated to be built this summer on Hwy. 90. The plant will offer temporary service to the Pearlington area. The citizen's committee meets each Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Pearlington Community Center. Individual contributions from group members are collected as needed for organizer Tony Dixon to make copies of official records, and to cover other expenses related to the investigation of group concerns. No contribution is required to attend the meetings.

Easter Egg Drop

Picayune Main Street sponsored an Easter Egg Drop at the Picayune Airport at on Saturday to raise funds for Relay for Life and the American Cancer Society. Hundreds showed up for the event. Three planes, a 1942 Stearman flown by Bill Trayl, a 1954 Piper Cub flown by Michael Shallbetter, and a 1973 Cessna flown by Wayne Wilson participated in the drop. Each plane dropped about 1,000 plastic eggs stuffed with candy for children to hunt. Other activities included a vertical wall climb, hot air balloon display and tethered balloon rides by Martin Booda, pony rides, face painting, pot art, a coca cola wagon and live bunny rabbits on display.

Hancock Republican women to meet Thurs.

There will be a Special "Membership Tea" on Thursday, 31 March, at 2:00 PM at the Diamondhead Community Center. All current members and their specially invited Guests are urged to attend this Spring-time affair.

The next regular Meeting of the Hancock County Republican Women's Club will be held at 11:00 AM on Thursday, 7 April, at the Diamondhead Country Club. Kathy Henry, President of the State Federation of Republican Women, will be the Guest of Honor and Guest Speaker. The meeting will be followed by a pay-as-you-go Luncheon at the Club.

Drop-off bag of drugs found near Hancock County jail

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Narcotics and Criminal Investigators are investigating the discovery of a drop-off bag of drugs discovered Wednesday on property adjacent to the county jail, Sheriff Steve Garber reports.

Narcotics Division Director Major Matt Karl said, "A paper bag containing powdered cocaine, crack cocaine, marijuana and prescription pain killers was discovered in a joint investigation between agents and criminal investigators of the Hancock County Sheriff's office."

"Several passerbys and jail trustys were questioned. No arrests have been made, but the investigation is still on going," Karl added.

The value of the illegal drugs found in the bag was estimated at about $500, Karl stated.

"We feel the bag of drugs were left to be later smuggled into the jail," Karl added.

Narcotics Division Agent Clifton (Bubba) Malley is in charge of the drug investigation.

To report any possible illegal drug activities, or other crimes in the county, contact the sheriff's office at 228-467-6101, 601-798-8555, (Picayune exchange), or Narcotics Division, 228-467-1496.

Buy-Bust takes place in front of church

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Agents of the Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force arrested a Bay resident and charged him with the sale of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine), on March 23 in front of a Church, Bay Police Chief Frank McNeil and Waveland Chief Jimmy Varnell reports.

"Tripp Whavers, 29, Shelia Drive, is charged with sale of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine), following a Buy-Bust by agents in which the suspected drug dealer was arrested after the transaction took place in front of a church of Sycamore Street," the news release from the Task Force directors said.

McNeil and Varnell continued, "Agents were able to recover the official task force funds and crack cocaine when Whavers was taken into custody. The transaction was also captured on hidden video surveillance equipment."

The report said, Whavers was also facing enhanced penalties due to the fact that he sold the cocaine in front of a church and other enhancements can be enforced because of previous felony drug convictions. Whavers was transported to Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility and placed under a $20,000 bond. His preliminary court date at Bay St. Louis Municipal Court is scheduled for April 20.

Detective Ian Estorffe is handling the investigation.

Third annual 'Mudbug Challenge' includes live music, bull riding & fishing tournament

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Mudbugs and music make a great combination for a fun weekend. Add a silent auction, a fishing tournament and the excitement of barrel racing and bull riding to the mix and it makes for a darned near perfect weekend.

Attendees at the fundraiser Favre's on the Bayou is sponsoring on April 1 and 2 at the Hancock County Equine Center will not only go home sated with crawfish and entertainment, but they'll also know that the money they've spent will go to a very worthy cause—the Hancock County Boys & Girls Club.

The festival begins at 6 p.m. April 1 and includes a $2,500 draw down, with a silent auction from 7 to midnight and entertainment by the Keith Hoda band from 8 to midnight. People who want to participate in the April 2 bass tournament may register from 7 to 8 p.m.

Cost for the Friday event is $25, which will admit two people and include a steak dinner for two.

The gates open on Saturday at 10 a.m. and close at midnight, with a silent auction from 10 to 5:30 p.m., the Mudbug Challenge (a crawfish cook off) from noon to 6 p.m. and live entertainment by two Coast favorites—the Keith Hoda Band and the Crossfire Band—plus the Damon Troy Band and the Hunter Hayes Band, both from Louisiana.

Hunter Hayes is the 12-year-old from Beaux Bridge who's become famous as an accordion player and singer of Cajun French songs. He was singing with a local band at age two and a half. He has appeared with Jo-El Sonnier, released his own recording at age four, appeared in the movie "The Apostle" with Robert Duvall, performed at the Texas Motor Speedway with Hank Williams, Jr. He's been on the Rosie O'Donnell Show, been featured in People Magazine, guested on "Live with Regis and Kathy Lee," performed at the White House for a Congressional Picnic and headlined his own show in Branson, MO, among other things. Jeff Favre of Favre's on the Bayou is very proud of have nabbed him for the Hancock County event.

There will be a barrel racing competition from noon to 6 p.m., a "cow drop" from 3 to 4 p.m. and bull riding from 7 to 9 p.m.

Both the barrel racing and bull riding competitions are Mid-South Pro Tour events. The weigh-in and awards for the bass tournament will take place at 6:30 p.m. and awards for the bull riding and barrel competition will be at 9 p.m.

Ticket prices for Saturday: $25 for all events, including all the crawfish you can eat, $20 for all-you-can eat crawfish plus the live entertainment and $14 if you just want to watch the barrel racing and bull riding.

If you want to enter the fishing tournament, call Boys & Girls Club Director Richie Santiago at 463-9662. The entry fee is $50 per boat. To enter the crawfish cook off ($150 per team) call Bobby Doyle at 363-1887. To enter the bull riding or barrel racing contests, call Mike Kirkland at (601) 795-2254 or (601) 795-4835 evenings. Entrants must sign up by March 28.

Favre hopes to make this festival an annual fundraiser for the Hancock County Boys & Girls Club, now in its second year.

The first 300 kids at the Brain Injury Association of America booth will receive free sports helmets.

Man arrested for alleged crack sales while out on bond for previous trafficking charge

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS Publisher Emeritus

A Waveland resident was arrested on an outstanding warrant, and was again charged with possession of a controlled substance by the Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force, according to directors, Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell and Bay Chief Frank McNeil.

The chiefs said in a statement last week that, "Michael Lewis, 23, Herlihy Street, Waveland, was arrested on March 20 for sale of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine), and possession of a controlled substance, (cocaine), was taken into custody on an outstanding warrant for possession of a controlled substance, (crack cocaine), by Detective Brent Anderson at a local bar room in Waveland."

"Detective Anderson then discovered crack cocaine and a small bag of powdered cocaine in Mr. Lewis' pants pocket. Since Lewis was out on a previous bond for a previous possession of a controlled substance, his previous bond was revoked and he is being held in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility without bond," Varnell and McNeil's report said.

Lewis has a preliminary court date at Waveland Municipal Court and the sale of a controlled substance which took place earlier in Bay St. Louis, has been bound over to the Grand Jury, the directors allowed.

Detective Anderson of the Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force is handling the investigation.

Any tips or complaints concerning illegal narcotics, please contact the Bay-Waveland Narcotics Task Force at 467-5683.

Motorcyclist accused of coke possession

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS Publisher Emeritus

A Waveland resident stopped for a traffic violation operating a motorcycle led to his arrest for allegedly having powdered cocaine, Sheriff Steve Garber reports.

Narcotics Division director Major Matt Karl said, "While on routine patrol on Lower Bay Road, Deputy Tim Campbell on the night of March 12, attempted to stop motorcycle operator Johnathan Sheffield, 33, of Waveland following a traffic violation. Campbell observed Sheffield toss a small package before he stopped."

"Campbell, following the stop, for the traffic violation, Deputy Campbell went back and collected a package which contained a white powder substance. He contacted me and a field test revealed the substance as being powdered cocaine," Karl said. "The package contained approximately one and half grams of powdered cocaine."

Sheffield—in addition to receiving a traffic violation—was also charged with possession of a controlled substance. His bond was set at $5,000. Karl, who is handling the investigation said,

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Support Hope Haven's efforts

It has been a long time since we have had so many dramatic changes in our weather.

There just have been so many changes from cold to warm, fog to rain, no wonder so folks have been fighting colds and other ailments.

Hopefully with today being Easter, weather conditions will improve.

It sure has to dry up a bit before many folks will be able to get their gardening and lawn work going.

Most of the yards are still soggy, but weeds seem to like the recent conditions.

Azaleas are blooming all over the place as well as many other Spring flowers.

I have noticed my Irish potatoes are doing well in my compost pile. It seems those pecan leaves and grass trimmings make a good base for potatoes, both Irish and sweet.

Last year I had some good success with several hills of sweet potatoes in the compost pile and it looks, unless we get a freeze, the Irish potatoes will do good this Spring.

I do know several folks who are real anxious about getting out their boats and fishing tackle with the past several nice sunny days.

Hopefully this year I will get to do a bit of fishing. Once you get out of the habit it is hard to get restarted.

I can recall years ago when I fished throughout the year, from freezing to torrid temperatures.

My old fishing buddy who is no longer with us, really knocked the spots off the specks.

As one of my childhood neighbors, who, I would paddle for while he fly fished would say, if you want to catch fish, you have to go often.

It is great that once again Hope Haven's Children's Center will benefit from Choice Markets, which include Diamondhead and Waveland Market Centers.

There was a brief pause in the program with the recent change in ownership of Choice Markets, but the program is once again in full force according to Terry Latham, Hope Haven's director.

All a person needs to do is to save their receipts from a Choice Market and Hope Haven will receive 1% from all receipts donated.

There are numerous collection points for the receipts which includes several churches and businesses.

Hope Haven is a non-profit shelter for abused and neglected children, a United Way of South Mississippi member and serves children from across south Mississippi.

Hope Haven is very active and has helped so many of our youngsters through crisis years since its inception.

Mississippians should pick a flood plan

Mississippi flooding is one of the worst kinds of natural disasters from which to recover. Homes are practically ruined, and it's the same for businesses, cars and virtually any property submerged by the flood. When the waters recede, the smell is awful, and poisonous snakes are everywhere, including in what's left of your house. Folks who have experienced flooding, automatically fear it. Government officials - well, they sometimes need some friendly prodding.

As we approach Easter 2005, it's useful to look back to Easter 1979 and consider a lesson some folks have yet to fully grasp. Most of us can remember the 1979 Easter flood that put a shocking portion of Jackson under water. The Pearl River peaked at 43 feet and did about a half-billion (yes, that's billion with a "b") dollars worth of damage, measured in today's dollars.

Since then we've had several more close calls - in 1983, the Pearl hit almost 40 feet. Twice in 2003 the river peaked at 35 feet.

Yet, a flood control plan for our state's largest metropolitan area still is not in place, and several proposals remain paper-bound, primarily because the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and local government entities can't come to terms on which plan to pursue.

Recently I met with officials from Hinds, Rankin and Madison counties about this problem, and I've talked extensively with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. My message to them: Pick a plan now. I've very candidly told all parties that if another major flood devastates Jackson, it won't be because Mississippi's Congressional delegation has been idle or indecisive. Senator Thad Cochran and I, in particular, are very proactive with all Mississippi flood control efforts, and we stand ready to help whenever a plan is chosen and presented to us.

In fact, Senator Cochran and I sometimes take a lot of nasty, unwarranted criticism from liberal, environmental special interest groups outside Mississippi because of our support for flood control. But we know that to most Mississippians, flood control is a life-or-death issue. The lives and property of people in our state take precedence. Therefore, I'm strongly urging the Corps and local officials to decide this year on a consensus Jackson area flood control strategy. Jackson area residents should no longer remain vulnerable.

The emerging locally-preferred flood control plan

What you should know about Medicaid

BY GOV. HALEY BARBOUR

If you or someone you love depends on Medicaid, you should read this. And if you are not on Medicaid, you are paying for its services with your tax dollars, and you should read this, too.

Mississippi Medicaid is one of the fastest-growing programs in the country. It doubled in cost in just five years. The growth is so rapid it is consuming state funds that have historically been spent on other priorities like education.

To try and save the program, which serves one out of every four Mississippians, the Legislature passed a good plan last year that shifted 6% of all Medicaid recipients to the federal Medicare program for health care coverage because they were already eligible for Medicare. Despite the fear-mongering spread by some,

Medicare provides good and comparable health care coverage as an alternative for those recipients. But that reform was stopped by a federal court before it could be implemented and save Mississippi nearly $100 million. (The state would have saved because the federal government pays 100% of Medicare, while the state pays only 25% of Medicaid costs.)

By the end of last year, the suspension of that reform, combined with a much larger deficit than the previous administration had reported, contributed to a $268 million deficit for this year, which had to be filled or the program would have shut down by March 11.

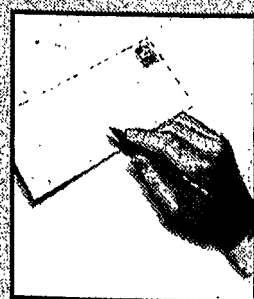

Though the deficit was announced in December, by last week the Legislature still had not acted, and Medicaid was about to go broke. So to save Medicaid, I

Deputy's Act of Kindness Won't be Forgotten

I would like to publicly commend Officer Brandon Hendry of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department for a very kind, considerate act.

About two weeks ago, I had car trouble on Hwy. 603, just after exiting I-10. It was after dark, cool, wet weather, and the tow truck was to be 40 minutes coming.

Officer Hendry stopped, assisted, and then drove me to my home in Waveland. He saved me some very uncomfortable moments on the highway.

We are very fortunate to have such competent, caring officers such as Brandon Hendry in the Sheriff's Department.

Yours truly,

MSMS students (l-r) Shiana Crosby of Pass Christian, Rachel Selzer of Carriere, Hayley Maxwell of Grenada, and Hafina Langley of Waynesboro portray Columbus' Four Decoration Day Ladies. The Decoration Day Ladies are enshrined in the Mississippi Hall of Fame in Jackson.

Local students to perform in award-winning cemetery tour

A candlelight tour through historic gravesites may seem like a setting for a Hollywood terror film, but one such tour takes place far from California. The setting is Columbus, Mississippi. The site is Friendship Cemetery. And Rachel Selzer of Carriere and Shiana Crosby of Pass Christian are among the young performers who will entertain and inform thousands of visitors along the way.

Selzer and Crosby and other students from the Mississippi School for Mathematics and Science are taking part in the highly anticipated "Tales from the Crypt," winner of the 2005 Governor's Award for Excellence in the Arts. "Tales" will be held in conjunction with the annual Columbus Pilgrimage which runs from March 29-April

10. Beginning last fall with the start of the school year, 36 MSMS students embarked on a project which included researching and rehearsing to bring Mississippians buried in Friendship Cemetery "back to life" through dramatic performances. As part of two junior U.S. history classes, eight of the students were chosen to introduce their characters in the spring for visitors to "Tales from the Crypt."

Selzer and Crosby will each be portraying one of the four "Decoration Day" ladies of Columbus. In April 1866, four Columbus women organized a day for decorating the graves of fallen Confederate and Union soldiers buried in Columbus. The event is widely regarded as the original Memorial Day.

Selzer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Selzer of Carriere. Crosby is the daughter of Ms. Christine Crosby of Pass Christian.

The students selected to present their intriguing characters will perform during Pilgrimage on the evenings of March 30 and April 1, 4, 6 and 8, from 7-10 p.m., in Friendship Cemetery on Fourth Street South, Columbus. Tickets are available on site and are $2 for general admission, $1 for students.

The Ten Commandments should stay where they are

On Wednesday, March 2, the U.S. Supreme Court considered challenges to the display of the Ten Commandments on government property. This is the latest threat to the principles and beliefs that are the cornerstone for our country's laws, justice, and morality. It is my hope that the Supreme Court Justices will see the value and necessity of the Ten Commandments in the operation of our government and society, and allow these ten basic laws to continue to be displayed on public property.

The U.S. Congress opens each session with a prayer, as does the Mississippi State Legislature. The phrase, "In God We Trust" is printed on U.S. currency and is carved in the wall above the speaker's chair in the U.S. House of Representatives. Our nation's Pledge of Allegiance declares that we are, "one nation, under God." Even the Supreme Court itself opens with, "God save this honorable court."

As you can see, our nation's leaders in the past saw the important role of God in the establishment and longevity of the country. Now, there are those who wish to erase this part of our history. I do not want this to happen any more than I would like to see removed from our history the Pilgrims and their grim winters, or George Washington and his wisdom, or Abraham Lincoln and his vision. The spiritual and moral fortitude of our great leaders, and all people who crossed the oceans for freedom, is an inseparable part of the history and story of our great nation.

The Ten Commandments are the moral corner stone on which our legal system is built. It is only right that we honor the origin of our laws by displaying these ten simple rules on public grounds, especially in places like court houses where decisions are made everyday based on the morals delineated in the Commandments. In the Library of Congress and around other government buildings, the names of philosophers and political leaders throughout history are honored for their contributions to the ideas of individual rights, equal justice, and democracy. As our world becomes more complex, it is imperative that we be reminded of our basic beliefs and values.

The religious, historical, and philosophical applications of the Ten Commandments are all pertinent to American society and its legal system. I feel that at the end of this debate by the Supreme Court, the importance of these laws will be even more apparent. The Supreme Court is expected to rule later this summer and I will continue to monitor the issue throughout that time.

Clarification

A quote listed in a March 6, 2005 story about the Hancock County School Board concerning ex-board member Larry Seal's accusations against Peggy Lander was incorrectly attributed to Superintendent David Kopf: "As far as I know, Mr. Seal's accusations are not true. My research and from what I've seen and heard, these accusations of improprieties were unfounded."

The quote should have been attributed to board President Morgan Ladner.

appears to be the "Two Lakes" proposal, now called "Lefleur Lakes," which calls for the construction of two lakes near Lakeland Drive as a means to help protect the Jackson area. Yet, because of various bureaucratic breakdowns, this plan still hasn't gotten the designation to be put into effect.

As your Senator I have no personal attachment to any of the various Jackson area flood control proposals. If the local people and their leaders determine that Lefleur Lakes is the most practical plan, then I'll try to assist it federally. If the choice is another plan, same thing. No plan is going to be absolutely perfect or acceptable to everyone, but rest assured, flood waters rivaling those of the 1979 Easter flood watermarks or even higher, will return. Will the Jackson area be ready?

Whether it's the Lefleur Lakes plan or another, we must all take flood control very seriously. Your Congressional delegation has made it a priority. Local residents, government officials, business leaders and the Corps must all have equal zeal. That's not to say that area leaders and the Corps are doing nothing.

They are, but these entities must put forward a consensus plan sooner, rather than later.

Flood control in the Delta, on the Coast and throughout Mississippi is just as important as in the Jackson area. But clearly all Mississippians have a lot invested in Metro Jackson. Even if you don't live here, many of you have family here, business interests here, and we all are impacted by government agencies which operate very near the still highly vulnerable flood zone.

The lessons of the Easter flood must be realized, lest they be repeated. Let's decide this year on a Jackson area flood plan and make sure there are no more Easters like 1979. Let's pick a Metro Jackson flood plan now and make sure that every Easter hence, we're high and dry, in church, with our families, and not dodging snakes in the kitchen. (03/24/05)

Ferriss Award 2005 watch list announced

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The participating college baseball coaches and major league scouts in Mississippi recently compiled a list of the potential candidates for the annual 2005 Cellular South Ferriss Trophy which is awarded to the state's top collegiate baseball player.

The list was compiled from the head coaches of the state's 12 four-year colleges. They submitted two players from their team and one player from another team whom they feel are worth a watchful eye in 2005. Even though a player may not make the pre-season watch list, they are still eligible to win the award.

Alcorn State University lists RHP Earl Smith (6-6, 217, Jr) and 2B Corey Wimberley (2004 SWAC Newcomer of the Year).

Belhaven College sports SS Nick Brister of Moss Point who led the Blazers in steals (19), walks (32) and runs scored (44) in 2004. C Brandon Ingle, a senior, led Belhaven with a slugging percentage of .733.

The 2004 National Champion Delta State University Statesmen feature RHP Brad Lightsey who went 11-1 last season and C/3B Bert Pickard of Biloxi who has been named a pre-season All-American selection.

Jackson State University lists 2B Carl Lipsey who led Division I baseball with 49 steals in 2004.

Millsaps College's SS Garner Wetzel of Gulfport was named to the list after hitting .311 last year and will see action out of the bullpen for the Majors in 2005.

Mississippi College feature Jake Bell and Marc Chisholm. Bell, an outfielder, hit .367 in 2004 before injuries while Chisholm batted .363.

Mississippi State University lists OF Brad Corley, RHP Alan Johnson and 2B Jeffrey Rea on the preseason ranking. Corley led the team with a .380 average, led the SEC in slugging percentage and was a 2004 Ferriss finalist.

Johnson, who will see more action this year on the mound, was 3-4 with a 5.56 ERA in 78 innings of work.

Rea hit .324 for the Bulldogs in 2004 is a former Mississippi high school player of the year.

Mississippi Valley State University has RHP Andrew Cunha and SS Zach Penprase.

Cunha led the SWAC in saves last season with six and Penprase led the team in hitting with a .327 average.

The Ole Miss Rebels feature the defending 2004 Ferriss Award winner in INF/P Stephen Head and RHP Mark Holliman.

Head, a junior, is a two-time All-American and 2005 NCBWA pre-season All-

American and ranked in the top 10 in the SEC in both hitting (.346 13 HRs) and pitching (6-3 2.32 ERA).

Holliman, third-team All-American in 2004, was 9-3 last season.

Rust College lists P Jamal Gray and SS DeWayne Johnson on the pre-season watch list.

The University of Southern Mississippi have RHP Patrick Ezell and 1B Marc Maddox on the list.

Ezell led the team with 73 K's in 2004 and is the pre-season Conference USA Pitcher of the Year.

Maddox hit .317 last year and is on the preliminary list of the Brooks Wallace Award that is presented annually to the nation's collegiate player of the year.

William Carey College features CF Greg Alexander and RHP Zach Butler of Gulfport.

The Ferriss Award is named for Dave "Boo" Ferriss who earned All-SEC honors as a pitcher at Mississippi State. He went on to play for the Boston Red Sox and had a highly successful coaching career at Delta State University. He is a member of the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame and the Boston Red Sox Hall of Fame.

The winner of the Ferriss Award will be announced at the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame and Museum on May 23, 2005.

Howell Trophy finalists announced

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The three finalists for the first annual Cellular South Howell Award presented to Mississippi's top collegiate basketball player are Mississippi State duo Lawrence Roberts and Shane Power and Ole Miss' Tommie Eddie.

The trio finished at the top of voting by media members from across the state. There were eleven players from six colleges and universities that received votes.

Roberts, a senior forward for the Bulldogs, currently ranks fifth in the SEC in scoring (16.7ppg) and leads the conference in rebounding with a 10.9 rpg mark. MSU teammate Power has started more games this season than any other and leads the team in three-point shooting.

Eddie, a Brooklyn, NY, native, lead Ole Miss in scoring with 11.3ppg and tied for the team lead in rebounding with 4.4rpg.

The trophy is named for former Mississippi State Bulldog All-American and six-time NBA All-Star Bailey Howell. All three finalists are expected to be present when the winner is announced at the Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame and Museum on April 14th.

Other players receiving votes listed alphabetically were: Hosea Butler (Mississippi Valley State), Marcus Campbell (Mississippi State), Rashad Carruth (USM), Winsome Frazier (Mississippi State), Jasper Johnson (USM), Londrick Nolen (Ole Miss), Jeremy Richardson (Delta State) and Delvin Thompson (Alcorn State).

For ticket information for the event, contact the museum at 1-800-280-FAME.

Area high school teams enter final stretch of games on the diamond

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

With spring break in full swing, schools have been enjoying the time off. However, the diamonds are still in action. Bay High, OLA and SSC all recorded wins last week in high school baseball and softball action.

In baseball action, SSC defeated Pass Christian 4-2 on Tuesday evening but then dropped a game to the Vancleave Bulldogs on Wednesday night.

Against the Pirates, SSC scored two runs in the seventh to make the difference despite a homerun by Pass High's Derrick Palmer. Tyler Henry picked up the win on the mound for the Rocks (9-8, 2-5) while Brett Sanders took the loss for Pass Christian (7-9, 1-4).

Steph Keel and Brett Ladner each had doubles for SSC.

On Wednesday night, the Rocks were shutout by Vancleave 2-0.

The Bay High Tigers remained at the top of Division 8-4A with a perfect 5-0 record following their 4-2 win over East Central.

The Tigers scored two runs in both fifth and seventh innings and got multiple hits from Trevor Adam, Cory Jordan and Steven Thebeau. Jordan also tallied the win on the mound for Bay High.

Bay High Tiger Cory Adam (15) steals second base against Hancock High's Blaine Lafontaine. Bay High lost 5 to 4 in seven innings but remain undefeated in district play.

In softball action, the Crescents of OLA squeaked by St. Martin on Tuesday evening 2-1. OLA scored in the fifth and sixth innings to get the win. Jordan

Fisher drove in lakasia Duckworth for the first OLA run. In the sixth inning, Rachel Cuevas helped her own cause on the mound as she popped a solo dinger to seal the win for the Crescents (7-10).

Also on Tuesday evening, Sara Gilmore struck out 12 batters to lead the Bay High Lady Tigers to a 4-0 win over the Picayune Lady Maroon Tide on the softball diamond.

The win gave Gilmore a 3-1 record on the season and the Lady Tigers improved to 6-4. Leann Williams and Sarah Lafontaine each had multiple hits, including triples, for the Lady Tigers.

Fifth Softball Game to benefit Hope Haven

It's spring and the calls of "Batter up" signal the time for the Fifth Annual Softball Game to benefit Hope Haven.

At noon on April 10, participating families from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and surrounding areas will come together at the Community Baseball Field, on the corner of Bookter and St. Francis St. in Bay St. Louis, for a day of fun, food and drink!

The event has grown over the past five years, with each year's fund raising efforts increasing the donation to Hope Haven. Organizer Wayne Korpi hopes to raise more than last year's $4,500 donation. He now has a group of helpers, known as the "Hope Haven Homers," working with him on the event.

This year, there will be an emphasis on family participation with a full schedule of activities for kids, karaoke/dj for the non-athletic, as well as the traditional adult softball game. Bar-b-que chicken dinners and chili dogs will be sold at the game. Purchasers of a $10 t-shirt will receive unlimited beer, soda, and wine. Proceeds from food sales and t-shirts will go to benefit Hope Haven.

One dollar raffle tickets will reward the winners with items from numerous community businesses and artists, including dinners from our favorite restaurants and casinos, and a number of special accommodations at casinos. Drawings will be held hourly at the game and winners do not need to be present to get their prize.

Sponsorships are also available for businesses and groups. A donation of $100 or more will result in a sign honoring the donor as a sponsor. For more information about becoming a sponsor, contact Judy Thompson at 463-0814.

Raffle tickets, donated by Knight-Abbey, and collectible t-shirts, designed by Mombo Graphics, are currently on sale at The Good Life, Third Base, Big Daddy's, Dan B's, Little

TERRELL RANDOLPH
Terrell H. "Terry" Randolph, age 69, passed away on March 25, 2005 in Bay St. Louis, MS.

Mr. Randolph was a native of Bay St. Louis, MS and a former Superintendent of Education of the Hancock County School District.

Mr. Randolph was born in Bay St. Louis on February 27, 1936. He attended grade school in the city and was a member of the Main Street United Methodist Church. He graduated from Bay High School in 1954. He attended Louisiana State University on a boxing scholarship before transferring to the University of Southern Mississippi where he received a bachelors degree in 1964.

He obtained a masters degree in education administration from Mississippi College in 1974. Mr. Randolph was a high school teacher and coach of football and track in various school systems in Mississippi and Alabama before being elected to the office of Superintendent of Education of Hancock County schools in 1975.

He was re-elected to the office four more times over the next twenty-five years before retiring in 2000. Education and school administration were his sources of greatest inspiration, and he was enormously dedicated to achieving the best possible school system for the students and residents of Hancock County.

Mr. Randolph was preceded in death by his parents, Clarence and Ouida Randolph of Bay St. Louis, two sisters, Fern Randolph Bouchillon and Bobbie Randolph Lewis.

He is survived by his son, Terry Randolph of Fort Lauderdale, FL; daughter, Lori Randolph Welch of Jackson, MS, two sisters, Marguerite Randolph Burlock and Glenda Randolph Bailey both of Pass Christian, MS, brother Ed Randolph of Ardmore, OK, two Grandsons, Ian MacMullen and Adam Welch of Jackson, MS.

The Visitation will be held on Monday, March 28, 2005, from 7:00 PM until

10:00 PM at the Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS.

The Prayer Service will be held on Tuesday, March 29, 2005 at 12:30 PM in the funeral home chapel.

Burial will follow in the Garden of Memory Cemetery in Bay St. Louis, MS.

In lieu of flowers the family requests that donation be made to the Terrell Randolph Memorial Scholarship Fund at any branch of Hancock Bank, Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS, is in charge of the arrangements.

Randolph's legacy lives on in Hancock

BY NAN PATTON
EHRBRIGHT

Terrell Randolph (better known as Terry) was a fighter from grade school on, winning six state championships in boxing, beginning as a fourth grader. He played football and basketball all the way through high school and earned a boxing scholarship to LSU after graduation from Bay High.

Those days were long over when Randolph, 69, former Hancock County Superintendent of Schools, succumbed to congestive heart failure and died late Thursday.

He had battled heart problems for several years. He had battled for better education for youngsters most of his life.

"When I finished my career in boxing in April, 1961, I had had like 104 fights, and I lost about six," Randolph said several weeks ago. Friends and colleagues will tell you he won most of his battles for education, too.

Randolph's career in education included stints in Huntsville, New Orleans, Jackson and Crystal Springs, but the bulk of his time was in the Hancock County School District. He began there as a teacher-coach in 1969 and stayed until 1972. He became superintendent in 1976 and served one term, then worked for the district as 16th Section Land Manager from 1980 to 1982; his work in that field led to 16th Section Land reform statewide. He was re-elected superintendent in Oct. 1982 in a special election. He remained in that post until January 1992, then was re-elected again in 1996 and served until 2000. He ran for re-election in 2004 but did not win -- one of his few defeats.

In all, voters cast their ballots five times for him between 1976 and 1996.

Randolph talked frequently about his son and daughter, whom he loved and was immensely proud, but "Terry was married to the school district," said Sue

Terrell Randolph

Dean Altman, who served as his secretary for 16 years. And the people that worked there -- the office staff, the faculty, the cafeteria workers, the bus drivers -- were his family.

Randolph himself credited his success as a politician to his stint as a Fuller Brush salesman before he entered education, going door to door to sell his goods.

"It was a very, very well respected business," he said several weeks ago. "It gave me the greatest opportunity to introduce myself and talk to people and be able to make my way."

One of the first things Randolph did as school superintendent was to downplay the importance of 8th grade graduation.

That didn't sit well with many students and parents, said Billie Lyons, who served on the school board with Randolph for 12 years.

But Randolph didn't want students in his district to view completion of 8th grade as the end of their education. He wanted them to continue through high school and beyond.

"He's left such a legacy behind him," Lyons said. "The things he has done for this school district are just amazing."

Lyons noted that Randolph put the district on the education map by getting computers installed in all the district schools.

Larry Peterson worked with Randolph for 12 years on the school board. But their friendship dates back nearly 60 years.

"He's the one who built just about every building in the district," Peterson said. "Most of the construction was done under Terry Randolph. Grades have also improved."

Philip Terrell, the retired school superintendent in Pass Christian, worked with Randolph for 14 years.

"He was a great man," Terrell said. "He gave me a job when jobs were hard to find. We were friends for so many years. The last time I talked to him, he was in good spirits. He didn't give up, not by choice."

Added Terrell: "He loved children. He put the students first."

Altman's daughter, Michelle Dean Easterling, now a lawyer in West Point, was in grade school when her mother first worked for Randolph. Easterling would go after class to the school board offices, then in Bay St. Louis, to wait for her mother to finish work and go home to Pearlinton.

Randolph didn't want Easterling to interfere with her mother's work, so he'd give her change to go next door to The Sea Coast Echo to buy candy and soft drinks. In later years, he gave her tasks that made her feel important -- taking papers to the courthouse or delivering mail to the post office. Still later, he'd just hand her his car keys and say, "Go."

Randolph remained loyal to his beloved school district even during his last months and days. Peterson took him to school board meetings where he sat and listened to the discussions.

From his bed in the ICU unit at Hancock Medical Center, Randolph recently called school officials seeking information about Waveland's long-ago annexation of land near Walmart that became part of the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District.

He wanted to take the issue back to the State Legislature and get the land back in the county school district.

"He called Eddie Danzey and David Kopf one day and said he wanted them in ICU at 5 p.m.," said Jeannie Klein, who's worked for the district since 1986. "The next morning, they wanted the first minute book of the school district and some maps. I said, 'What's going on here? Tell me this is a Terry Randolph assignment.' And it was."

"He was a superintendent who had vision, leadership and was skilled in fund management," said Lennette Necaise, who served on the school board with Randolph for eight years. "Because of that, we went from a small, rural school district to a state-of-the-art school district that enables students to be competitive in today's world."

called a Special Session over the weekend. Thankfully, the Legislature responded to my call and filled the deficit in just two days by taking money from the Health Care Trust Fund, the only place with enough money to fund that kind of deficit.

With the short-term emergency averted, the House and Senate are considering more savings in Medicaid to help keep the program from going broke in future years. The Senate has passed such a plan, but so far, the House has refused to accept it.

Raising taxes is not the solution for the Medicaid mess because taxpayers are not the reason for the Medicaid mess. Tax revenue coming in to the state has increased 34% in recent years, but spending has shot up 50% at the same time.

Taxpayers have done their part, but state leaders haven't done their job of controlling spending.

Medicaid needs more reform, not more revenue. Whether it is taxes on smokers or somebody else, any extra revenue generated by tax hikes will only give those in Jackson another excuse to spend more and put off enacting needed changes in our Medicaid program.

Northrop says it's increasing MS jobs

BY HOLBROOK MOHR
Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Despite layoffs announced during a $100 million state bond initiative to create jobs, officials say Northrop Grumman Ship Systems is on schedule to increase its Mississippi work force by 2008.

The company in 2002 reached a deal with lawmakers to increase its Gulf Coast employee numbers by 2,000.

The Legislature this year is expected to authorize the final installment of $56 million in bonds to help Northrop Grumman expand its Pascagoula and Gulfport shipyards. Since 2002, the Legislature has authorized $100 million in bonds for the project. The state will repay the bonds over several years.

Ship Systems President Phil Dur told The Associated Press this past week that the company's commitment is to increase the number of jobs at the shipyard from 2003 by the year 2008.

"That commitment, in return for the state's investment in capital, is rock solid," Dur said.

Northrop Grumman announced in January that cutbacks in the U.S. Navy's budget is forcing the company to cut 2,500 jobs at its plants nationwide, with at least 100 workers at the Ingalls shipyard in Pascagoula put out of work.

Dur said the Pascagoula shipyard increased its work force to build a 24,000-ton landing platform dock that originally was to have been constructed in Maine. The LPD project caused the company to temporarily beef up its work force. He said completion of different stages of that project, coupled with cuts in Navy spending, is forcing layoffs.

"As a result, we're having to roll off some small number of people," Dur said. "I can't control the pace at which the government appropriates, nor can I control the pace at which the Navy contracts for ships."

Rep. Carmel Wells-

Smith, R-Pascagoula, said she thinks the company will meet its goals.

Wells-Smith said the layoffs were part of a lull between major projects and that "the jobs will come back."

"I feel very confident that they'll meet their goals," she said. "Actually, we've been told they are meeting those goals."

Rep. Jim Simpson Jr., R-Pass Christian, agreed.

Simpson said the bonds were issued to help the company with long-term expansion and will ultimately pay off for the state.

Hopefully, the layoffs are short term," he said.

Kevin Jarvis, a project manager for Northrop Grumman Ship Systems, headquartered in Pascagoula, Miss., is the fighter standing in the ring when the last bell rings," he said.

"To be in that position underlines the importance of continuing our capital projects."

bond program with the third year ending this year. Then that gave us the two years to take that bond money and turn it into construction projects," Jarvis said. "That's why you see in our agreement with the state those jobs are generated out in the 2007, 2008, 2009 timeframe."

Dur said Northrop Grumman is trying to position itself ahead of other companies because the Navy's cuts could diminish the demand for large-scale ship builders and increase competition.

"It is my conviction, it is certainly our intention, to ensure that Northrop Grumman Ship Systems, headquartered in Pascagoula, Miss., is the fighter standing in the ring when the last bell rings," he said.

"To be in that position underlines the importance of continuing our capital projects."

TERRELL RANDOLPH
Terrell H. "Terry" Randolph, age 69, passed away on March 25, 2005 in Bay St. Louis, MS.

Mr. Randolph was a native of Bay St. Louis, MS and a former Superintendent of Education of the Hancock County School District.

Mr. Randolph was born in Bay St. Louis on February 27, 1936. He attended grade school in the city and was a member of the Main Street United Methodist Church. He graduated from Bay High School in 1954. He attended Louisiana State University on a boxing scholarship before transferring to the University of Southern Mississippi where he received a bachelors degree in 1964.

He obtained a masters degree in education administration from Mississippi College in 1974. Mr. Randolph was a high school teacher and coach of football and track in various school systems in Mississippi and Alabama before being elected to the office of Superintendent of Education of Hancock County schools in 1975.

He was re-elected to the office four more times over the next twenty-five years before retiring in 2000. Education and school administration were his sources of greatest inspiration, and he was enormously dedicated to achieving the best possible school system for the students and residents of Hancock County.

Mr. Randolph was preceded in death by his parents, Clarence and Ouida Randolph of Bay St. Louis, two sisters, Fern Randolph Bouchillon and Bobbie Randolph Lewis.

He is survived by his son, Terry Randolph of Fort Lauderdale, FL, daughter Lori Randolph Welch of Jackson, MS, two sisters, Marguerite Randolph Burlock and Glenda Randolph Bailey both of Pass Christian, MS, brother Ed Randolph of Ardmore, OK, two Grandsons, Ian MacMullen and Adam Welch of Jackson, MS.

The Visitation will be held on Monday, March 28, 2005, from 7:00 PM until

10:00 PM at the Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS.

The Prayer Service will be held on Tuesday, March 29, 2005 at 12:30 PM in the funeral home chapel.

Burial will follow in the Garden of Memory Cemetery in Bay St. Louis, MS.

In lieu of flowers the family requests that donation be made to the Terrell Randolph Memorial Scholarship Fund at any branch of Hancock Bank, Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, MS, is in charge of the arrangements.

Randolph's legacy lives on in Hancock

BY NAN PATTON
EHRBRIGHT

Terrell Randolph (better known as Terry) was a fighter from grade school on, winning six state championships in boxing, beginning as a fourth grader. He played football and basketball all the way through high school and earned a boxing scholarship to LSU after graduation from Bay High.

Those days were long over when Randolph, 69, former Hancock County Superintendent of Schools, succumbed to congestive heart failure and died late Thursday.

He had battled heart problems for several years.

He had battled for better education for youngsters most of his life.

"When I finished my career in boxing in April, 1961, I had had like 104 fights, and I lost about six," Randolph said several weeks ago. Friends and colleagues will tell you he won most of his battles for education, too.

Randolph's career in education included stints in Huntsville, New Orleans, Jackson and Crystal Springs, but the bulk of his time was in the Hancock County School District. He began there as a teacher-coach in 1969 and stayed until 1972. He became superintendent in 1976 and served one term, then worked for the district as 16th Section Land Manager from 1980 to 1982; his work in that field led to 16th Section Land reform statewide. He was re-elected superintendent in Oct. 1982 in a special election. He remained in that post until January 1992, then was re-elected again in 1996 and served until 2000. He ran for re-election in 2004 but did not win -- one of his few defeats.

In all, voters cast their ballots five times for him between 1976 and 1996.

Randolph talked frequently about his son and daughter, whom he loved and was immensely proud, but "Terry was married to the school district," said Sue

Terrell Randolph

Dean Altman, who served as his secretary for 16 years. And the people that worked there -- the office staff, the faculty, the cafeteria workers, the bus drivers -- were his family."

Randolph himself credited his success as a politician to his stint as a Fuller Brush salesman before he entered education, going door to door to sell his goods.

"It was a very, very well respected business," he said several weeks ago. "It gave me the greatest opportunity to introduce myself and talk to people and be able to make my way."

One of the first things Randolph did as school superintendent was to downplay the importance of 8th grade graduation.

That didn't sit well with many students and parents, said Billie Lyons, who served on the school board with Randolph for 12 years.

But Randolph didn't want students in his district to view completion of 8th grade as the end of their education. He wanted them to continue through high school and beyond.

"He's left such a legacy behind him," Lyons said. "The things he has done for this school district are just amazing."

Lyons noted that Randolph put the district on the education map by getting computers installed in all the district schools.

Larry Peterson worked with Randolph for 12 years on the school board. But their friendship dates back nearly 60 years.

"He's the one who built just about every building in the district," Peterson said. "Most of the construction was done under Terry Randolph. Grades have also improved."

Philip Terrell, the retired school superintendent in Pass Christian, worked with Randolph for 14 years.

"He was a great man," Terrell said. "He gave me a job when jobs were hard to find. We were friends for so many years. The last time I talked to him, he was in good spirits. He didn't give up, not by choice."

Added Terrell: "He loved children. He put the students first."

Altman's daughter, Michelle Dean Easterling, now a lawyer in West Point, was in grade school when her mother first worked for Randolph. Easterling would go after class to the school board offices, then in Bay St. Louis, to wait for her mother to finish work and go home to Pearlington.

Randolph didn't want Easterling to interfere with her mother's work, so he'd give her change to go next door to The Sea Coast Echo to buy candy and soft drinks. In later years, he gave her tasks that made her feel important -- taking papers to the courthouse or delivering mail to the post office. Still later, he'd just hand her his car keys and say, "Go."

Randolph remained loyal to his beloved school district even during his last months and days. Peterson took him to school board meetings where he sat and listened to the discussions.

"He was a superintendent who had vision, leadership and was skilled in fund management," said Lennette Necaise, who served on the school board with Randolph for eight years. "Because of that, we went from a small, rural school district to a state-of-the-art school district that enables students to be competitive in today's world."

Northrop says it's increasing MS jobs

BY HOLBROOK MOHR
Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Despite layoffs announced during a $100 million state bond initiative to create jobs, officials say Northrop Grumman Ship Systems is on schedule to increase its Mississippi work force by 2008.

The company in 2002 reached a deal with lawmakers to increase its Gulf Coast employee numbers by 2,000.

The Legislature this year is expected to authorize the final installment of $56 million in bonds to help Northrop Grumman expand its Pascagoula and Gulfport shipyards. Since 2002, the Legislature has authorized $100 million in bonds for the project. The state will repay the bonds over several years.

Ship Systems President Phil Dur told The Associated Press this past week that the company's commitment is to increase the number of jobs at the shipyard from 2003 by the year 2008.

"That commitment, in return for the state's investment in capital, is rock solid," Dur said.

Northrop Grumman announced in January that cutbacks in the U.S. Navy's budget is forcing the company to cut 2,500 jobs at its plants nationwide, with at least 100 workers at the Ingalls shipyard in Pascagoula put out of work.

Dur said the Pascagoula shipyard increased its work force to build a 24,000-ton landing platform dock that originally was to have been constructed in Maine. The LPD project caused the company to temporarily beef up its work force. He said completion of different stages of that project, coupled with cuts in Navy spending, is forcing layoffs.

"As a result, we're having to roll off some small number of people," Dur said. "I can't control the pace at which the government appropriates, nor can I control the pace at which the Navy contracts for ships."

Rep. Carmel Wells-

Smith, R-Pascagoula, said she thinks the company will meet its goals.

Wells-Smith said the layoffs were part of a lull between major projects and that "the jobs will come back."

"I feel very confident that they'll meet their goals," she said. "Actually, we've been told they are meeting those goals."

Rep. Jim Simpson Jr., R-Pass Christian, agreed.

Simpson said the bonds were issued to help the company with long-term expansion and will ultimately pay off for the state.

Hopefully, the layoffs are short term," he said.

Kevin Jarvis, a project manager for Northrop Grumman Ship Systems, headquartered in Pascagoula, Miss., is the fighter standing in the ring when the last bell rings," he said.

"To be in that position underlines the importance of continuing our capital projects."

bond program with the third year ending this year. Then that gave us the two years to take that bond money and turn it into construction projects," Jarvis said. "That's why you see in our agreement with the state those jobs are generated out in the 2007, 2008, 2009 timeframe."

Dur said Northrop Grumman is trying to position itself ahead of other companies because the Navy's cuts could diminish the demand for large-scale ship builders and increase competition.

"It is my conviction, it is certainly our intention; to ensure that Northrop Grumman Ship Systems, headquartered in Pascagoula, Miss., is the fighter standing in the ring when the last bell rings," he said.

"To be in that position underlines the importance of continuing our capital projects."

es would offer not only high tech jobs but jobs for both skilled and unskilled labor. Bringing jobs to the county are a priority, Kane says.

Kane has served as a Commissioner since 1998 and is currently with John McDonald Realty where he took over the running of the business after the death of his father-in-law. He was married to wife Ellen for 33 years and they have two children: Regan, 31, and Sanders, 27. Kane moved to Bay St. Louis, Ellen's hometown, in 1972.

Kane was born near Baton Rouge and had a relatively normal childhood, he says. He is the son of John Warren Kane of Blue Hill, Maine and Mildred Kane of Rayville, Louisiana. The two met while John Warren was stationed at Camp Shelby and Mildred was teaching at Mississippi Southern. John Warren owned an office furniture business.

Kane attended public schools, then went on to Louisiana State University to earn a degree in political science with a minor in history. He started college as a business major, but changed his mind, he said.

His childhood from the age of about 11 or 12 was spent working when he wasn't in school, at the family business, bagging groceries at Food Town and a few summers at the Louisiana Department of Archives and History. He put himself through college by delivering janitorial supplies. Work, he says is not a bad thing and taught him invaluable skills at an early age, including good money management. He passed that work ethic on to his sons.

After college, Kane worked for a time as a sales representative for Tom's Foods. When a transfer to Georgia became imminent he decided to accept a job offer from his new in-laws John and Iva May McDonald to work at the realty company.

Kane served in the United States Coast Guard and Reserve from 1967-1973. He has served as president of the Rotary Club, treasurer of Main Street Methodist Church, as a board member and special events coordinator for the Chamber of Commerce, as a member of the Sand Beach Commission, and as presidential elector for Bob Doyle. In 1997, the realty company was named business of the year.

In the past he says he enjoyed hunting, fishing, and tennis, though he says he doesn't participate in his hobbies much any more for various reasons. He was also an avid skier with the family spending many holidays at their home in Crested Butte, Colorado. He still has a keen interest in history.

16th annual Cancer Society's Red Beans &amp; Rice Cook-Off is Apr. 18

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus
The 16th annual American Cancer Society's Red Beans & Rice Cook-Off has been set for Monday, April 18, according to Cosponsors.

The Cosponsors for the 2005 benefit are: Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre, Hancock County Tax Collector/Assessor Jimmie Ladner Jr., and Calgon Carbon's Ernie Zimmerman.

The event this year will take place at the Hancock County Civic Center, Longfellow Road, according to Ladner.

Letters have been sent to previous participants and it is hoped to increase the participation to 40 or more this year, Ladner reported.

Just as in previous years, "There is a call for good cooks to come out and enjoy themselves and at the same time help a very worthy cause, the American Cancer Society," Mayor Favre said.

There are five categories of competition, which are, government, restaurant, organization, business and family.

More area restaurants are needed in the fund-raiser. "Each each restaurant needs to try to out do their competitors," Favre reports.

The group coming from the longest distance in recent years has been the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

Regulars for many years has been Waveland Market Center and Diamondhead Supermarket. (Choice Markets). They usually have that great bread pudding too.

Chuck Breath, the earliest entrant this year, and a top cook years ago, said, "I will be cooking 'space beans' this year and will be after the top award."

Both Favre and Ladner report that they will be cooking this year (to give others a chance to win) will not be entering the contest, both have been recent winners. There beans will be for takeouts, etc.

An item that goes good with red beans and rice is cornbread. Once again there will be a "cornbread" competition with a trophy going for the Best Cornbread.

The Red Beans & Rice Cook-Off American Red Cross benefit was organized by Janet McQueen, Anne Schmidt, Andre and Basil Kennedy 16 years ago. McQueen and Andre served as the CO chairs for several years.

The first Cook-Off was held at Christ Episcopal's Virginia Hall and there were 10 entrants. After outgrowing Virginia Hall, the benefit was moved to the Bay Waveland Yacht Club and out grew those quarters.

The last two years the fund-raiser was held at Casino Magic's Entertainment Center.

"The Civic Center is more centrally located and we can hold up to 50 teams," Ladner added.

For further information, contact Favre at 467-9092, Ladner or Sandra Hoda at 467-4425 or Zimmerman at 498-0737.

Hancock investigators eye retiree's 'sweepstakes' win

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

A retired Hancock County resident on social security income faces the loss of $4,800 he was informed he won in a Sweepstakes - and even received a check - and then was told he had to return the money," Hancock Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt said last week.

The problems for the retiree began a few days later when, "The man, who had several outstanding bills, deposited the money in his checking account at his bank and then paid off some of his obligations, then was told he had to return the money."

Assistant Chief Investigator Andre Fizer, who is further investigating the complaint, as well as Hurt feel the whole thing is a SCAM, or a Fraud.

Fizer in contacting the victim found out and feels the following is the way the SCAM, or Fraud works.

The victim was contact via telephone to say he had won a Sweepstakes and would be receiving a check in the mail from the American Bank of Virginia, which he did several days later on March 2.

The gentlemen then took the check to his bank, and the bank check it out and at that time the computer said it was a valid check.

Apparently it was a stolen account number of a valid check and meanwhile, before the local person's check cleared the Virginia bank, the valid one did.

Four days after the victim received the check from a Las Vegas, NV address, he was called by telephone to be told the check was a mistake and that he would be receiving a new one and to send the money to an addressee in Texas.

The victim had already spent the majority of his thought winnings and only had, he thought, was $1,745.45 left. So, he sent via Western Union MoneyGram the $1,745 to the Texas address.

The shock came to the victim in a letter dated March 17, from his bank reporting the $4,800 check was returned with the reason being, "Returned Reason-R Branch/Account Sold." Needless to say, his account was overdrawn with a negative balance of $4,548.

Both Hurt and Fizer said, "If something sounds too good to be true, in all probability it is not true."

The SCAM, or Fraud apparently originated in Canada, and once something leaves this country after a stop, or two Federal Authorities really have no way of continuing to track the transactions, according to the local investigators.

Fizer advised the victim that the sheriff's department would contact the FBI and possible see if there is anyway of trying to recover his losses.

"There is always someone out there trying to figure a way to take your money. If you are approached in any way, do not give them any information whatsoever and never send them any money."

"Get as much information as you can from them and then contact the sheriff's department a call at 228-467-5101, 601-798-8555 (Picayune exchange) or the Investigators Department at 228-467-1496," Hurt said on Wednesday.

was arrested and charged with aggravated assault and disturbing the peace around 7 p.m. Wednesday.

"Sheriff's Deputies David King, Todd Drummond and David Dear responded to a call on Washington Street. Deputies were met by the victim with a cut to his hand and wrist. The victim was taken to Hancock Medical Center for treatment and released," Barnett reported.

Barnett continued, "Deputies could see a suspect inside the house with a machete type knife in his hand. They tried to summon him to the door and he failed to reply, so they went in and apprehended him."

On Friday, Favard was lodged in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility with an initial bond of $100,500 being set by Justice Court Judge Jay Lagasse, according to jail records.

I was in the Waveland post office mailing two packages. Like most small town post offices, Waveland's post office is a nice place to meet and say hi to friends in passing. Stella and I don't have a mailbox at our house and I make the trip to the post office at noon each day.

Terri, the postmistress, is a good friend of both Stella and I and she began a running conversation as she processed my packages.

"What are you going to get Stella for your wedding anniversary?"

"I already gave her a present."

"Oh, yeah? What was that?"

"It was something she needed, running boards on my pickup."

"What!" Terri stopped weighing the packages. "You gave her running boards to your pickup!"

There were snickers from the people in line behind me. I quickly tried to explain.

"Stella, with her bad knee and all, was having trouble getting in and out of the pickup and..."

I said more, but it seemed like everything I said made it worse. Terri kept looking at me and the people behind me were having a field day listening in.

The truth is that my fifteen-year-old silver Ford Ranger had recently breathed its last and I had gone out, looked for found and bought a replacement. The new Ford Ranger is as different from the old Ford Ranger as a model T is from a Mustang. It has a stretch cab, a CD player, automatic shift, cruise control, adjustable seats, electric windows, keyless entry, a bed liner and even mud flaps. It drives like a dream and I love it.

The only thing that bothers me is its color. For some reason, every truck on the road today is white. My new truck is no exception. I have 4th, 5th, and 6th grade students at the burial site of the nine Christian Brothers who fell victim to the yellow fever epidemic in 1867. The Christian Brothers opened St. Mary's College for boys on the site of the present Miramar Nursing Home in 1865. Boys from St. Paul Catholic Church attended the school.

The students of St. Paul participated in a very moving Holy Thursday prayer service.

Principal Mrs. J.B. Pike began the ceremony in prayer. Following a reading by Sr. Jackie Tarrant, Mrs. Pike washed the hands of each staff member. The teachers proclaimed that they would serve like Jesus and

"wash the feet" of each student. Each student had their hands washed by their teacher. The prayerful service concluded after reading and reflections and the ceremony of breaking bread and sharing with all in attendance.

Kindergarten teacher Mrs. Joanne Webb washes the hands of Benjamin Benigno.

Principal J.B. Pike washes the hand of substitute teacher Christy Elias.

Pre-school teacher Mrs. Vicki Runnels shares bread with Bella Newton.

The students of St. Paul Catholic School took on very special Lenten projects. The school wide project was dubbed, Operation M*A*S*H. Students intend to Make A Soldier Happy by making cards and collecting change to buy international phone cards for soldiers overseas. By Holy Thursday, the students had raised $553.50 which was matched by a $500 donation by the PTO. Coin continues to trickle in for a donation worth more than $1,000. The students of the 4th, 5th, and 6th grade spent two afternoon working in the St. Paul Parish Cemetery. Students picked up debris then raked and burned leaves in a traditional spring clean-up. The students have carried on the tradition of a Corporal Work of Mercy - Bury the Dead.

What can MS Forestry Commission do for you?

BY T. KEITH BEATTY County Forester

What has the Mississippi Forestry Commission done for me lately?

If you are a citizen of Mississippi, probably more than you know.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission detects and controls wildfires and helps rural volunteer fire departments get the government surplus equipment suitable for wildland fire fighting. The Forestry Commission helps finance the schools in about two-thirds of the state by managing and selling timber from sixteenth-section school-trust lands. It develops better strains of trees, grows seedlings and helps landowners plant trees and manage forests for the benefit of our economy and environment. It gives cities, towns and other government and non-government entities advice on managing trees for shade and beauty in our cities and other public places and provides grant money for the establishment, management and care of urban forests. It monitors forest insect and disease outbreaks and advises landowners on control methods. This state conservation agency sponsors an award-winning environmental education program - Project Learning Tree - through which it has given more than 12,000 Mississippi educators the best science-based, unbiased environmental education material available and trained them in its use.

Let's look at a few ways the Forestry Commission helps landowners. Drive down nearly any highway or road in

OLA Students Place in 'Promote the Vote' Contest

Secretary of State Eric Clark has recognized winners of Promote the Vote mock election contests in art, essay, political cartoons, video, and voter registration.

"All of these students and teachers have done a great job getting Mississippi young people involved in their government," Clark said. "We're very proud of them and will continue the work of creating a new generation of Americans who take part in our democracy."

The awards were announced today at the State Capitol. More than 107,602 students from 258 schools participated in Promote the Vote in 2004. Students voted for President and U.S. Representative and recognized the 40th Anniversary of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Clark, a former history and government teacher at the high school, community college, and senior college levels, started Promote the Vote in 1996. The program seeks to instill the values of participating in national, state, and local government. All Mississippi school children — whether they attend public, private, or church-related schools, or are home-schooled — are eligible to participate. The program has been recognized by the National Student Parent Mock Election with the first place TIME/CNN Award as the best student mock election in the country. Since 1996 more than 825,000 Mississippi children have taken part in Promote the Vote.

Winners were chosen from entries submitted from schools across the state. Students in Kindergarten through 12th grade submitted entries in the art contests; other students submitted entries in the essay, political cartoon, and video competitions. The Voter Registration Challenge honors schools for registering the highest percentage 18-year old voters for the first time.

Anyone interested in Promote the Vote 2005 should call 601-359-6350 or 1-800-256-3494 for more information. The theme for 2005 will be the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Several OLA students placed in the various competitions for grades 10-12. In the art competition, Christine Branon and Blanca Jessica Perez won second and third place respectively.

In the essay contest, Elissa Kergosien won first and Jessie Shifalo won third. Claudia Ramos won first place in the political cartoon category.

Millsaps recognizes academic honoraries

The Millsaps College academic honorary societies held their biannual Tap Day ceremonies Thursday, February 24 in the Ford Academic Complex on the Millsaps College campus in Jackson.

In all, 19 different academic honoraries inducted new members and honored current members. Millsaps College allows students of all classifications to participate in academic honoraries. Requirements for membership in the societies vary from organization to organization, but outstanding scholarship in a specified field of study is a general requirement for all societies.

Petra Vackova, a freshman from Bay St. Louis, was tapped into Phi Eta Sigma, a national honorary society that recognizes outstanding academic achievement in freshmen.

PRCC Delta chapter takes home medals

Pearl River Community College's Delta Epsilon chapter won several medals in the State Conference recently held in Hattiesburg. The conference was held at the Hattiesburg Lake Terrace Convention Center.

At the awards ceremony, students who finished in first through sixth places were recognized and are now eligible to represent Mississippi at the International Delta Epsilon Conference later this spring. Pearl River walked away with 15 medals, tops among all competing community colleges.

Alex Ladner of Lumberton placed first in Design and Christina Eli of Lumberton placed second. Eli created a design for the state pin and placed first in that division. Tommy Caughey and Brandon Cage of Poplarville grabbed second in Business Ethics. The team of Anthony Mitchell and Lester McDaniel of Columbia took second place honors in Sports and Entertainment Marketing. Teasha Ritchie of Poplarville took second in the Sales Representative category.

Lakisha Dillon of Columbia was second in the Sales Manager event. Terin Rester Smith of Poplarville garnered second in Financial Services while Regina Taylor of Picayune took sixth place. Laura White of Picayune won second in Apparel & Accessories Marketing while Shelly Wilson of Picayune placed fifth.

White and Eli were creators of the college Chapter of the Year scrapbook. By a narrow margin, PRCC placed second in this event. Andrea Hurst of Lumberton was a fourth place winner in Full Service Restaurant Management. Kelvin Jenkins of Purvis won sixth place in Human Resource Management.

Tiffany Whitfield of Kiln also won a sixth place in Marketing Management.

Asper makes Dean's List at Messiah College

Diamondhead resident Alicia Asper was named to the dean's list for the 2004 fall semester at Messiah College. Asper is a sophomore majoring in politics. Dean's list is earned by receiving a 3.6 GPA or higher on a 4.0 scale.

Messiah College, a private Christian college of the liberal and applied arts and sciences, enrolls more than 2,900 undergraduate students in 50 majors. Established in 1909, the primary campus is located in Grantham, PA, near the state capital of Harrisburg. A satellite campus affiliated with Temple University is located in Philadelphia.

During the month of February, the Pass Christian Library hosted a display of "Bottle People" created by 4th grade students at Coast Episcopal School. The 4th grade class of 19 students is taught by Catherine Biggs. This class has been studying various literary genre. They had recently completed a study of biographies, which culminated with presentations, reports and art projects. The art projects included the creation of "bottle people" representing the person each student had studied. The bottle people represented such diverse subjects as Brett Favre, Mark Twain, Thomas Jefferson, Anne Frank, and Helen Keller, to name a few. The bottle people and a backboard with information on each subject were displayed at the Pass Christian Library through out the month of February.

Views -- Stella!

trouble finding it in the Wal Mart parking lot and several times have tried to get in the wrong truck.

I think if I ever robbed a bank and, after racing outside and jumping in the truck, all I would have to do for my get away was to move into heavy traffic. I would be immediately invisible. The cops would be looking for "a white late model Ford pickup truck." Fat chance!! They'd never find me.

But there is another problem and it was this that I was trying to explain to Terri.

My new pickup is much higher off the ground than my old truck. Stella likes being able to look out over traffic from the new height. In fact, she enjoys driving the truck and has begun using it more and more for short trips instead of her own car. However, she has a serious problem getting in and getting out of the cab. With her bad knee, the new height made this difficult.

So, since she likes the truck, I had the running boards installed as her anniversary present.

Terri interrupted my long explanation, "Paul, you should have gotten her something more personal, something expensive."

"Expensive! Terri do you know what running boards cost?"

Terri just stared at me. "Excuse me sir. Is that your pickup truck parked out there?"

It was the man behind me. He was pointing to my truck parked near the door of the post office. I nodded that it was.

"That's a good looking truck. I like the running boards."

"I had them and some fog lights installed at the same time. Stella sometimes drives the truck at night and sometimes there's a fog. I thought that would be a good safety factor for her."

The man smiled and nodded, Terri groaned as did the two women standing in line behind my new friend.

"Paul, sign here for the packages." Terri pushed out a form for me to sign.

I signed and left the counter with its chilled atmosphere and going outside got in my white pickup with its running boards and fog lights and I drove home.

When I got home, I went in the kitchen where Stella was fixing lunch, salami po-boys with crusty bread, onions, mustard and some of her home made chutney. I helped her carry these, some grapes and iced sun tea to the kitchen table.

As we began to eat, I asked her the question that had bothered me.

"Stella, do you really like the running boards I had put on the truck?"

"Of course I do, that was very thoughtful of you. Here, have some of these grapes, they're delicious."

I looked at her and, from the experience of all those years we've been together, knew she was sincere. In a way, with that remark, she had given me, in turn, a wonderful anniversary present.

However, I think I will go out later and get her some flowers.

Forestry

Mississippi and see how far you can go without seeing a pine plantation. If that plantation is on private land - about two-thirds of all forest land in Mississippi is owned by private, non-industrial landowners - the chances are that it was planted with the help of the Forestry Commission. By the way, most of these plantations are growing on what would otherwise be abandoned agricultural land.

The Forestry Commission gives landowners advice and writes management plans that guide them in establishing and managing their forests. The agency manages a state-funded forestry cost-share program, and serves as technical agent to federal agencies in managing several federal forestry cost-share grant programs. Forestry Commission foresters help landowners locate and buy seedlings and tree seed, either from a state nursery or a private vendor, and locate someone who will prepare the site and plant trees. The Forestry Commission even does a limited amount of this work for a fee when private vendors are not available or the landowner chooses not to use one. The agency even provides some hard-to-find forestry services - such as control burning.

One Mississippi Forestry Commission program - the Forest Stewardship Program - is becoming increasingly important.

Through this program Commission foresters help landowners construct forest management plans that address their resource-management desires - and the focus might be on some aspect of forest management other than timber production. Care for the environment and the sustainability of the forest resources is central to all Stewardship plans. Landowners who agree to manage their land by these "Stewardship" principals are recognized as participants in the Forest Stewardship Program.

Future implications of this recognition could be very important. In fact, they are already becoming important. More and more buyers of forest products want to be sure they are "green," that is, grown and produced in an environmentally friendly and sustainable manner and are willing to pay more for them. Such products are known as "certified" wood products.

As this demand grows, companies will be looking for trees they can prove to inspectors were grown in such a manner. Since Stewardship Forests are already recognized as meeting this criteria, trees they produce will be much more marketable (and probably bring more money) than ordinary trees.

Speaking of selling timber, Forestry Commission foresters will give landowners advice on selling timber but will not actually conduct the sale, so as not to interfere with consultant foresters' business. The county forester can provide landowners with a list of consultants who operate in his area.

If you are a landowner interested in managing your forest or just a Mississippian who enjoys all our beautiful forests and the many environmental benefits they bring, the Mississippi Forestry Commission impacts your life. If I can help you, give me a call at 228-255-4885 or 228-255-7152.

Health, education leaders announce results of youth risk behavior study

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Health (MDH) and the Mississippi Department of Education unveiled the results of Mississippi's 2003 Youth Risk Behavior Survey (YRBS), revealing the various choices Mississippi youth make regarding tobacco use, physical activity, and alcohol and drug use.

Mississippi's YRBS is the only instrument for measuring and monitoring health risk behaviors among adolescents in the state. Injury, Violence and Suicide

The percentage of public high school students who rarely or never used safety belts has significantly decreased from 33 percent in 1993 to 23 percent in 2003.

The percentage of public high school students carrying a weapon on school property during the past 30 days has significantly decreased from 14 percent in 1993 to five percent in 2003.

The percentage of public high school students involved in a physical fight on school property during the past 12 months has significantly decreased from 17 percent in 1993 to 10 percent in 2003.

Tobacco Use

The percentage of public high school students who have smoked cigarettes during the past 30 days has decreased from 28 percent in 1993 to 25 percent in 2003.

The percentage of public high school students who have tried cigarette smoking has significantly decreased from 76 percent in 1993 to 66 percent in 2003.

The percentage of public high school students who have smoked cigarettes on school property during the past 30 days has decreased from nine percent to six percent in 2003.

Alcohol and Drug Use

The percentage of public high school students who have had at least one drink of alcohol during the past 30 days has decreased from 47 percent in 1993 to 42 percent in 2003.

The percentage of public high school students who have had five or more drinks on at least one occasion during the past 30 days has decreased from 27 percent in 1993 to 25 percent in 2003.

The percentage of public high school students who used marijuana in the past 30 days has increased from nine percent in 1993 to 21 percent in 2003.

Diet and Weight

The percentage of public high school students who are overweight has increased from 13 percent in 1999 to 16 percent in 2003.

Physical Activity

Sixty-nine percent of public high school students were not enrolled in a physical education class, compared to 44 percent nationally.

The percentage of public high school students who were enrolled in physical education class at least once per week has significantly increased from 22 percent in 1993 to 31 percent in 2003.

Sexual Behavior

The percentage of public high school students who have ever been taught about AIDS or HIV infection in school has significantly increased from 75 percent in 1993 to 87 percent in 2003.

The percentage of public high school students who have ever engaged in sexual activity has decreased from 69 percent in 1993 to 61 percent in 2003.

In the spring of 2003, Mississippi Department of Health staff notified 34 public high schools throughout the state with the news that their schools were selected randomly to participate in the survey.

The survey would measure students' behaviors and their perceptions in a variety of health and safety areas.

"The purpose of this survey is to offer a snapshot of the health and well-being of Mississippi adolescents," said Mississippi State Health Officer Dr. Brian Amy.

Dressed up as Freaks

Staff from library systems in Harrison County, Pearl River County, Lamar County, Laurel-Jones, Pine Forest and Hancock County attended a Summer Reading Program workshop presented by the Mississippi Library Commission. The commission sponsors the workshops annually at four different locations across the state to promote the upcoming Summer Reading Program theme, Reading is Fantastic. The Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library hosted the workshop. ## Local makes a Global Exchange

Madeleine Maya has recently been appointed as the new local representative for EF Foundation for Foreign Exchange Study. As the new International Exchange Coordinator for the Diamondhead area, she is committed to improving cultural awareness and respect among nations, one exchange student at a time. Maya is currently seeking families to open their hearts and homes to highschool exchange students. Host families provide room, board, and a caring environment in exchange for a life-long international friendship.

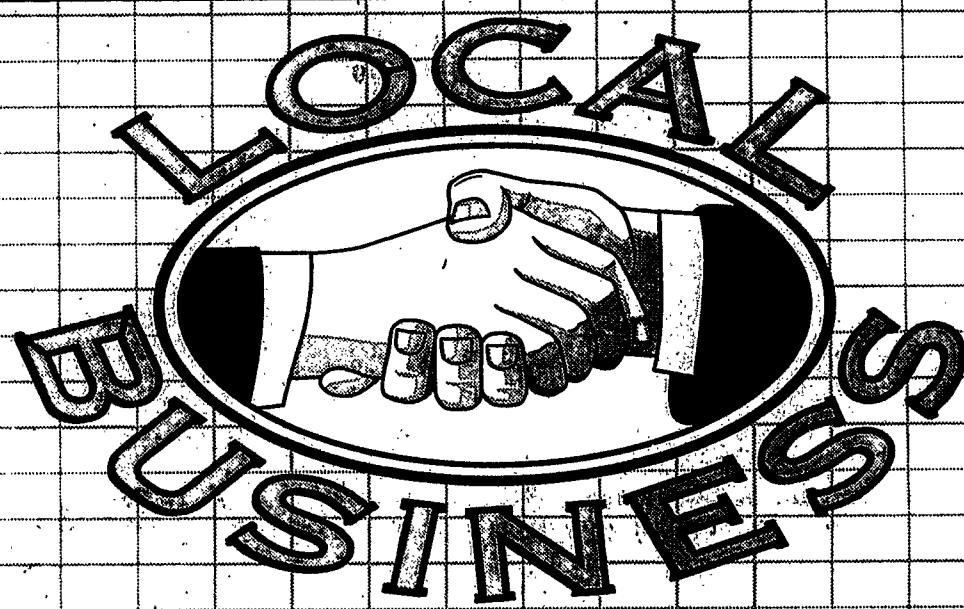

EF Foundation host families have a unique opportunity to both diversify their communities and enrich their personal lives through cultural exchange. EF host families play an essential role in one student's adventure as he/she experiences American culture firsthand in Mississippi. EF exchange students are between the ages of 15-18. The majority of students stay for a full high school year. In the past, exchange students have traveled to Mississippi from as far away as Germany, Hong Kong, Australia and Spain.

Maya ensures that host families and exchange students are well-matched, and offers guidance and assistance to both parties throughout the year. When asked why she choose to devote her time to international exchange Madeleine explained, "I enjoy meeting people from all over the world and I can't wait for the families to experience life with a foreign exchange student."

EF Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to international student exchange and education. Every year, nearly 3,000 exchange students from over 30 countries in Europe, Latin America and Asia come to the United States to live with volunteer American host families and attend a local high school. These participate in an extensive application and interview process and are selected on their academic achievement, maturity, and adaptability. Students accepted to the EF Foundation program are fully insured, speak English and bring their own spending money.

To learn how to host a foreign exchange student and open your doors to the world, please call Madeleine Maya at 228-586-0671. Or call EF Foundation toll free at 1-888-44-SHARE or log onto www.efoundation.org for more information.

ANXIETIES AND FEARS

Often when we are faced with new or different situations, a certain amount of anxiety may cause us some uneasiness. Perhaps a new job, a new relationship or traveling to some unfamiliar area may bring about such feelings. Sometimes it is helpful if we ask ourselves why we are feeling anxious, and what actually is the object of our fear. Coming up with answers to these questions may be the start of overcoming our fear. We should understand that being away from familiar surroundings and people can at times be stressful. Obviously these are not overwhelming fears, or we would never do anything or go anywhere. However, anxieties and stress are a part of our lives, and we have to learn to deal with them. The Bible tells us that we should cast all of our anxiety on our Lord, because He cares for us: We should not be anxious about anything, but in everything, by prayer and petition with thanksgiving, present our requests to God. And the peace of God, which transcends all understanding, will guard our hearts and our minds in Christ Jesus (Philippians 4:6-7).

The All-Time World Celebrity

Namedropping is an activity most people engage in at one time or other, usually in a bit of good humor and for bragging rights. But there are many star-struck individuals who make a habit and even a life of strategically dropping the name of some famous, rich or socially influential. It is another feather in their cap.

Above and beyond namedropping, people tend to throng after superstars, finding great excitement and near rapture in their company, as we witness with entertainers working the crowds. Some groupies, away from the herd, are even privileged to private sessions.

Regardless of origins, social stature, political bent, creed, profession or vocation in life, who would rate as the all-time world celebrity? What woman or man would fulfill all the criteria we can dream up for the world's ultimate rank in superstardom?

It would have to be someone who dares to transcend time, origin, race and the confines of social parameters to the mind-bending extent that all the millennia of human annals and history are reckoned in reference to the time before his birth and that after his birth.

Ultimate superstardom mandates that the candidate's birth was trumpeted mightily by many prophets for centuries and pinpointed by an eerie, awesome celestial phenomenon whose nature has baffled the world of science, history and religion down to this very day.

Though hidden during most of his childhood, adolescence and young adulthood, this Superstar burst upon the public scene as no other has, astounding the boisterous crowd at a wedding reception by changing huge jars of water into choicest wine. (John 2)

Thus began with a huge flourish, not a quest for stardom, but a living fulfillment of an amazing brilliance and wonder which were there from the very beginning. Immediately, the milling thousands knew there was someone here of whom the prophets had spoken.

Adjusting for a much smaller world population, this Superstar was mobbed by crowds unprecedented in the annals of history. No athlete, no entertainer, no politician, no stellar performer was ever pressed as he was. At times, he had to flee to the mountains or cross a lake to the other side to find a few moments of prayer. (John 6:15; Mark 6:32)

His adoring crowds sometimes followed him for days, exhausting whatever meager food they carried with them. No problem for him, despite the thousands of people. He simply multiplied the 3 little fish and the 5 barley loaves of bread on hand, so that many baskets of fragments were left over after everyone had eaten. (Matthew 14:17)

Our Superstar had to traverse lakes from time to time. At one point, his apostles, hard put and buffeted about by the wind, were even more terrified when they witnessed him walking on the water toward them, a feat unheard of and not even conceivable by the most spectacular athletes. Mysteriously, the storm fell abruptly. (Matthew 14:22)

Good mariners know how to navigate the most treacherous waters and storms. This Supermariner, however, slept during storms at sea. Awakened by his screaming apostles, he becalmed the waves and the winds by a simple command. (Matthew 8:26)

Giving sight to the blind became a daily thing for this Superstar, as did giving hearing to the deaf and speech to the mute. Even persons born blind or with some debilitating affliction were being healed from their dreaded handicap. (John 9)

Drifting into the world of the strictly supernatural, the Superstar often took on the minions of Satan who had possessed some helpless person. Without hesitation, he cast them out as they screamed their recognition of him as the Son of God. (Mark 1:24)

So powerful and intimidating were the feats of the Superstar that troubled leaders of the Jews claimed that he cast out demons only through Beelzebub, the prince of demons. But he slammed the feckless leaders, asking how Satan could divide himself by casting out his own minions in his name. (Matthew 10:26)

Reaching yet more deeply into the transcendent world of the supernatural, the intrepid Superstar was called upon to do the totally unthinkable. A synagogue official named Jairus pleaded with him to look after his dying daughter.

Although the girl died before he got there, the Superstar raised her from the dead. (Mark 5:41)

Celebrity had burst all bounds by the time our Superstar encountered a vulnerable, grieving widow who was in the funeral procession of her dead son. Uninvited by anyone, the Superstar calmed her, touched the coffin and raised the dead man. (Luke 7:11)

As if this were not enough, the Superstar's close friend Lazarus became terminally ill and died by the time he made the scene. Four putrid days in the tomb were not enough to prevent him from calling Lazarus forth from the tomb to the amazement of all. This event marked the second-highest pinnacle to which the Superstar would climb. (John 11)

Of all the spectacular, preternatural, supernatural feats engineered by our Superstar, the one least touted yet most amazing was the forgiveness of the woman caught in adultery, of the paralyzed man who had been lowered through the roof and of all sinners reaching out to him for deliverance, culminating with forgiveness while hanging from the cross.

All the other healings effected by the Superstar were band-aids along the twisting path of life, mere momentary relief and lesser miracles intended as a means to eternal healing and life through forgiveness. Here, pedestrian celebrities have nothing they can think, say or do to help us, while the Superstar is in his element as Savior of the world.

Basking in the light or power of worldly celebrities is an exercise in ultimate futility. But our Superstar will forgive and save us to eternal life as he forgave Dismas, the Good Thief, who was dying together with him on the cross. (Luke 23:42)

Finally, our Superstar staked out his ultimate claim to celebrity when he performed his greatest feat through the power of his Father. He assures us he will do the same for us:

"Why do you seek the living one among the dead? He is not here, but he has been raised." (Luke 24:5-6)

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

As the Twig is Bent, So Shall It Grow

My wife Bobbye and I have four children, a boy and three girls. They are grown now and have children of their own. We have seven living grand children and two step grandchildren.

When our children were young, everything was rather hard with us. I had to work long hours, as did my wife. Childbearing and overwork had physically and mentally pulled her down so that she was sick or at least felt bad most of the time.

I was in poor physical condition due to a chronic condition I could not get cleared up. The children were sick with the usual childhood diseases. Medicine and medical bills were high, money was always tight, and we did without a lot of things. We really kept our shoulders to the wheel.

Although times were hard, we always took the time to have a family altar. This took some doing. We had breakfast in those days, not the quick coffee and cereal we have today, but hot biscuits, or maybe pancakes with ham or bacon and eggs, along with Ribbon Cane syrup.

We had a family altar before breakfast because this seemed to be the only time we could get our family together. I would read from the Bible, and then, in rotation, one person each morning, we would say a prayer.

We had some long prayers. One of our daughters prayed for everything from the ants to the sky. She took the position that ants had the right to live also. She usually ended by asking God to please bless the little children who could not run and scream and holler. Well, as they would pray on and on, and as we sat there with biscuits getting cold, I thought that I would scream and holler.

I just did not know if the bother was worth it. Through the years that have followed, I have found out. First of all, our children became Christians.

Then, when our first grandchild, Michele, was five years old, she was staying with us while her parents went on a vacation. It was a Friday night, and she and Bobbye came in, picked up her Bible, and said, "Come on into the bedroom. Michele wants us to read the Bible and say prayers together."

A few years later, our phone rang one Sunday night. Our oldest grandson, Michele's brother, Stan, was on the line and he said, "Granddaddy, I accepted Christ as my Savior tonight. Will you and GrandBobbye come next Sunday night to see me baptized?" We went gladly!

A few years earlier, our second granddaughter, Cindy, the child of our middle daughter, Paige, called. She said, "GrandBobbye, I accepted Christ as my Savior this morning. Will you and Granddaddy come to Baton Rouge and see me baptized?"

This past weekend, we kept Cindy's younger brother, Robert. His mother and sister had been to Jackson to a swim meet. Cindy is in the LSU swimming program, and she is really good. Anyway, we went to Hammond, Louisiana, Friday and picked up Robert. To get to Jackson from Baton Rouge, they came to Hammond to take I-55 North, so that was a good pick-up point. Then, on Sunday afternoon, we again met them in Hammond to give Robert back.

I invited them to Pizza Hut for supper. When it was served, I said to Bobbye, "I think it's your turn to say the blessing." Well, Robert said, "No, let me say it!"

This just happened to be the son of our daughter who prayed so long when she was about Robert's age. His prayer took me back some twenty-five years; he prayed and prayed, just like Paige used to do.

My point is this: In Proverbs 22:6, it says, "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

It is not all of us who get to see the fruits of the seed we have sown; but when it is good fruit from a good seed, let me tell you, it can thrill your heart.

I hope the my sharing these experiences with you, especially those who are young and still have the training of your children before you, will let what I have said this morning find a place in your heart.

MSU Fall Dean's Scholars

The following students are Dean's Scholars for the 2004 fall semester at
Mississippi State
University: Heather L.
Ladner and Nathan J.
Scutching of Bay St. Louis;
Ryan M. Foret and Jesse
Doyle of Picayune; Daniel B.
Stanton of Waveland; Kaley
T. Hennessey of Kiln; and Kyle D. Duncan of Carriere.

Dean's List students

achieved a GPA between 3.5

and 3.79, based on a 4.0

scale, while completing at least 12 semester hours of course work with no incomplete grades or grades lower than a C.

Necaise is Regional Reading Fair Winner

Gulfview Elementary 3rd
grade student Marlee Necaise recently placed first in the Third Grade Individual category during the regional competition of the Region 5
Mississippi Reading Fair.
Necaise will compete in the State Reading Fair to be held May 20 in Jackson.

Local cadet named to Dean's List

Cadet Daryl Renaldo
Acker, son of Clarence and
Shirley Acker of Pearlington, was named to the Dean's List at the U.S.
Military Academy.

To qualify for Dean's List,
a cadet must maintain a 3.0
grade point average.

Acker graduated from Hancock High School in 2000. He is concentrating his studies in Systems
Engineering and plans to graduate in May from West Point and be commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

The mission of the U.S.

Cadet Daryl Renaldo Acker

Military Academy is to educated, train, and inspire the Corps of Cadets so that each graduate is a commissioned leader of character committed to the values of Duty,

Honor, and Country; professional growth throughout a career as an officer in the United States Army; and a lifetime of selfless service to the Nation.

Sign up now for the 10th annual Horn Island Experience Art Workshop

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Tenth year means ten times more fun! Ride aboard a zooming Coast Guard Cutter out to the island for eight, not five, days of art on the island. Anyone interested in exploring the creative process that occurs while camping on a barrier island is invited to attend. Call Tracy Wills, 228-374-5547 ext 24, now to reserve your spot!

Workshop Dates: April 23 - 30. Total workshop cost: $500

$100.00 non-refundable pre-registration deposit deadline - March 25, 2005

$400.00 remaining balance due for pre-registered students - April 15, 2005

$550.00 workshop fee after April 18, 2005 due upon registration (space permitting) Participants will have the opportunity to explore various arts.

Watercolor with instructor Claudia Balthrop. Participants will create watercolor paintings with a focus on capturing the essence of the Island experience, as interpreted by individuals for their own work. Both traditional watercolor and experimental methods will be explored, and spontaneous reactions to Island stimuli will be encouraged. Instruction will be geared toward the individual needs and goals of the student.

Ceramics with instructor Ann Adele Nettles. This workshop will incorporate hand built clay techniques, conceptual ideas, and the function of connections to produce sculptural pieces. Participants will use mixed media with clay to assemble "containers" as sculpture. The clay will be decorated with slips and glazes for cone 10 wood, gas, and SODA firing, in a kiln built by the participants in the second part of the workshop.

Kiln Building with instructor Brian Nettles. The participants will learn basic kiln design principals, talk about refectories, and, with the instructor, build a 15 cubic foot wood and gas fired kiln. There will be a cone 10 soda firing on the island, and participants will learn about oxidation and reduction and seashell effects with soda.

Oil Painting with instructor Bill Nelson. A class using oils on canvas with a strong focus on underpainting, composition, and the use of sienna as a painting surface. Photography with instructor Bob Brooks. Basics of photography using morning and evening light, ISO settings, film and camera choices.

All attendees must be workshop participants. Space is very limited, so register early to assure your place.

The "Horn Island Experience" is an 8 day, 7 night primitive camping experience on Horn Island, a natural wildlife preserve in the Mississippi Sound. Located twelve miles off shore in the beautiful Gulf of Mexico, the Island is ten miles long and approximately one mile across at its widest point. The Island features a fascinating and diverse ecosystem teeming with wildlife and is subject to the always surprising whims of Mother Nature.

Disney on Ice to bring Monsters to the Coast

Straight from the city of Monstropolis, one-eyed Mike Wazowski, his furry friend James P. Sullivan-a.k.a. Sulley-and the adorable little girl Boo will be appearing live in your hometown as Disney On Ice presents Disney / Pixar's Monsters, Inc.

This comical caper visits Biloxi April 21-24 for eight great performances at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Mike, Sulley and Boo will bring all of Monstropolis to life in a side-splitting tale sure to spark mega-watt laughter.

Hilarious hijinks ensue when Boo ventures into the Monsters, Inc., factory bringing her infectious giggle and opening the door to an electrifying adventure. Audiences will scream with laughter as this enormous production bursts from the arena with monsterrific laughter and excitement.

To purchase tickets, please contact the box office at 228/594-3707 or

Biloxi tradition for 57 years, Shrimp Queen Pageant

When Mississippi Gulf Coast boaters line-up to receive their blessing from Bishop Thomas Rodi on Sunday, May 1 during the 77th annual Blessing of the Fleet, they will be greeted by a wave from the 2005 Shrimp Queen and King.

In 1929, during Biloxi's first recorded Blessing, fishermen were not treated to a smile and a wave by royalty because Biloxi did not crown a Shrimp Queen. The first Shrimp Queen, Gloria Meaut was crowned in 1948. Eight years later Luka Kuljis was crowned the first Shrimp King. The tradition continues 57 years later. Former Shrimp Queens, Tonya Gollot Swoope (1975), Stacy McGuire Senseney (1985) and Danielle Metcalf (2002) and Shrimp King Tommy Schultz (1983) serve on the Blessing Committee, to keep this tradition alive.

Each year, blessing committee members choose a deserving industry worker to reign as Biloxi's Shrimp King. However, a pageant is the traditional forum for selecting a Shrimp Queen. The contest is open to young women 16 to 19 years of age, who attend Mercy Cross

High School, Biloxi High School, Ocean Springs High School, d'Iberville High School and St. Martin High School and descend from families who have worked in the seafood industry (Young ladies who attend other high schools or colleges that who can identify a family history in the seafood industry may apply also). Contestants participate in an interview and evening gown competition. The chosen candidate represents the shrimping industry and receives a $1,000 scholarship to the school of her choice. A meeting for those interested will be held at St. Michael's Parish Hall, 177 1st Street, Biloxi, Thursday, April 14 at 4:30 pm. Application packets are available at all high schools. For more information, contact Patsy Smolcich (228-392-5226), Danielle Metcalf (228-392-7614), or Stacy Senseney (228-872-1904) for an application and more information. The deadline to enter the pageant is April 7. The pageant will be held at the Biloxi Community Center at 5:30 pm on Saturday, May 30.

te Midler ("The First Wives Club") s born in Honolulu and was a rite performer at the gay hangout ntinental Baths.

Goldie Hawn ("Overboard") was the manager of a dance studio at age 17 while also studying drama at American University.

Sunday

9 a.m. on HBO

Movie: Dr. Seuss' The Cat in the Hat

After bringing a live-action version of "How the Grinch Stole Christmas" to the screen, producer Ron Howard went back to the works of Dr. Seuss for this visually clever 2003 representation of another classic. Mike Myers maintains his wise-guy approach as the title feline, who watches over two youngsters (Dakota Fanning, Spencer Breslin). Kelly Preston plays their mother, who is pursued by an ardent neighbor (Alec Baldwin).

8 p.m. on HALL

Movie: Homeward Bound II: Lost in San Francisco

The adventures continue for Chance, Sassy and Shadow in this 1996 sequel to "Homeward Bound: The Incredible Journey." This time, the lovable dogs and cat are separated from their owners in the City by the Bay and discover the streets can be pretty mean. Michael J. Fox, Sally Field and Ralph Waite lend their voices to the furry friends.

Thursday

10:30 p.m. on USA

Movie: Uncle Buck

A big-hearted but bumbling man (John Candy) agrees to look after his brother's kids for a few days when the parents are called away. As if looking after two tykes, their rebellious older sister and her endangered virginity weren't enough, he's also trying to make up with his girlfriend (Amy Madigan) and fend off the advances of a man-hungry neighbor (Laurie Metcalf). Jean Louisa Kelly, Gabby Hoffman and Macaulay Culkin also star in this 1989 comedy.

Friday

9 a.m. on HALI

Little House on the Prairie
Laura (Melissa Gilbert) is jealous when Mary (Melissa Sue Anderson) gets to go to Minneapolis with Ma (Karen Grassle) in "The Pride of Walnut Grove." There for a statewide math competition, Mary is afraid of failing and bringing shame to her hometown. Meanwhile, Charles (Michael Landon) gives Laura some important household chores to help her feel important.

8 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Hoosiers

A real "sleeper," director David Anspaugh's highly entertaining 1986 drama crept up on critics and audiences, earning numerous plaudits, including an Oscar nomination for Dennis Hopper. It's Gene Hackman, however, who gets top billing as the new coach of a 1950s Indiana high-school basketball team with a poor record. Barbara Hershey co-stars.

Saturday

11 a.m. on HALL
Movie: The Long Shot

Inspired by a true story, this 2004 drama movie stars Julie Benz ("Angel") as an abandoned wife and mother supporting herself and her young daughter (Gage Golightly) by working at a rural California equestrian center. Under the tutelage of a dressage veteran (Marsha Mason) and a barn manager (Paul Le Mat, "American Graffiti"), the woman gets back into competition — though tragedy lies ahead for her beloved horse.

Bette Midler ("The First Wives Club") was born in Honolulu and was a favorite performer at the gay hangout Continental Baths.

Goldie Hawn ("Overboard") was the manager of a dance studio at age 17 while also studying drama at American University.

Stockard Channing ("The West Wing") was born Susan Williams Antonia Stockard Channing Schmidt and attended Redcliffe.

Victor Garber ("Alias") won an Obie for his performance in "Wenceslas Square" at the 1988 New York Shake-

Marcia Gay Harden ("Mystic River") was nominated for Helen Hayes Awards for "Crimes of the Heart" and

Sunday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB
Charmed

While seeking missing witches, Paige (Rose McGowan) crosses paths with pirate captain Black Jack Cutting (guest star Harve Presnell, "The Frelender") in "Charmed." Fated to age without dying, he shifts that curse to Paige, bringing Piper (and Phoebe) Holly Marie Combs, Alyssa Milano) to the attempted rescue.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Desperate Housewives

Sharon Lawrence returns as Maisey Gibbons in the new episode "The Ladies Who Lunch." She's at the center of a scandal that rocks Bree's (Marcia Cross) world. Lynette (Felicity Huffman) feels the heat from rumors that her twins started the head-lice epidemic at their school. Gabrielle's (Eva Longoria) sewer system is broken, and she can't afford to get it fixed. Only time will fix what's broken at Susan's (Teri Hatcher) house, her heart.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: James Patterson's Suzanne's Diary for Nicholas
An author (Johnathon Schaech, "That Thing You Do!") dumps his book-editor girlfriend (Kathleen Rose Perkins) with no explanation. Devastated and pregnant with his child — something she didn't get to tell him about — she gets her answers from an unlikely source: a diary written by his wife (Christina Applegate) for their son. Richard Friedenberg directed and wrote the screenplay of this new drama based on Patterson's best-selling novel.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Criminal Intent

The new episode "Shibboleth" echoes the real-life "BTK" serial murder case from Kansas. Goren and Eames (Vincent D'Onofrio, Kathryn Erbe) believe a long-inactive murderer known as the "BBJ" killer is back at work when a woman is slain in a manner that resembles his earlier crimes. A suspect (guest star Paul Sparks) in the latest homicide is in custody, but Goren has his doubts that the man committed the previous ones.

8 p.m. and DSC

The Real Family of Jesus

In the Bible, Jesus' earthly relatives, with the exception of his mother, Mary, are minor players. Those who have dug deeper, however, see him as a man with a deep-rooted family tree. This two-part special goes beyond the Bible to unearth more information about that family, from Mary, Joseph and John the Baptist to his brothers, grandfather, uncle, aunt and others who influenced not only his upbringing but the future of Christianity.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Grey's Anatomy

This new drama series follows the on- and off-duty trials of a group of newly minted interns at a Seattle hospital. It's known as one of the most challenging surgical residency programs in the land, thanks in part to the presence of super-tough senior resident Miranda Bailey (Chandra Wilson), known to her trainees as "the Nazi." Ellen Pompeo, Sandra Oh, Katherine Heigl, T.R. Knight and Justin Chambers play the young interns in "A Hard Day's Night."

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Crossing Jordan

An unmarked mass grave is discovered to contain the remains of missing mobsters in the new episode "Skin &

Bone." When the bodies are identified, the killer resurfaces and attacks Bug (Ravi Kapoor) to intimidate Jordan (Jill Hennessy) and her colleagues into keeping silent. Woody (Jerry O'Connell) is suspicious when his brother (Charles O'Connell) shows up to help with the excavation.

9 p.m. on HBO

Carnivale

The world is shrinking, but Samson (Michael J. Anderson) is thinking big in the season finale. "New Canaan, CA." As he formulates his grand plan, Justin (Clancy Brown) forces Iris (Amy Madigan) to deal with her fear of heights. Ben (Nick Stahl) completes some important tasks. John C. Reilly, Lynn Collins, Cynthia Ettinger and Clea DuVall also star.

TV Jumble

TV JUMBLE

by David L. Hoyt

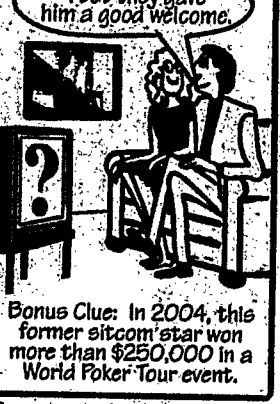

Use the clues to help unscramble the four jumbles. One letter to each square, to form four words.

EBACL Clue: television
EKPITC Clue: Brock's wooden strip
GIVINIAR Clue: The V's home
TIAIONDU Clue: Type of test

Bonus

Answers to 3/20/05: Jumbles: DIME HOTEL SPORTS INHUMAN Bonus: This TV show debuted in 1979.

THIS OLD HOUSE

Bonus Clue: In 2004, this former sitcom star won more than $250,000 in a World Poker Tour event.

Then arrange the circled letters to form the bonus answer, as suggested by the above cartoon and bonus clue.

Monday Best Bets

7:30 p.m. on 54-UPN

Cuts

Tiffany (Shannon Elizabeth) starts dating Harrison (guest star Simon Rex) again and neglects her work at the salon. Kevin (Marques Houston) isn't complaining, though. He sees her frequent absences and lack of interest as an opportunity to restore some of the establishment's old, masculine character. Corbin Bernsen also guest stars in the new episode "My Boyfriend's Back."

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Bachelor

This is not your big brother's "Bachelor." The new season of the dating series brings lots of changes—including a surprise first-time meeting of the bachelor and his would-be fiancée, followed by a speed-dating session that instantly eliminates five women. Actor, model and real-estate investor Charlie O'Connell—brother of actor Jerry ("Crossing Jordan")—steps into the title role this season.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Summerland

After seeing Ava (Lori Loughlin) in a private moment with Johnny (Shawn Christlan), Simon (Jay Harrington) wants her to move up their wedding date. Nikki and Derrick (Kay Panabaker, Nicholas J. Benson) have mixed feelings about that idea. Bradin (Jesse McCartney) considers taking things to the next level with Callie (Danielle Savre) in the new episode "Mr. & Mrs. Who."

who was not as lucky as that thief, he got caught.

8 p.m. on 49-PAX

Mrs. World 2005

John O'Hurley, best known as the pompous, globe-trotting J. Peterman on "Seinfeld," is on the move for real as host of this year's edition of the international pageant for married women, taped last month in India.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

A thief outwits the casino's state-of-the-art surveillance technology, forcing Ed (James Caan) to use his own wits to solve the crime. Mary and Mike (Nikki Cox, James Van Der Beek) intervene in the case of a cheating husband.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Miami

Dan Cortese guest stars in "Addiction" as the husband of a woman killed in an apparent carjacking. When the team discovers that the victim had a gambling problem that was jeopardizing her husband's family business, Horatio (David Caruso) and the crew must check out the possibility of a killer closer to home.

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Gilmore Girls

Christopher (David Sutcliffe) visits Yale to patch things up with Rory (Alexis Bledel), but she brushes him off. Lorelai (Lauren Graham) falls to tell Luke (Scott Patterson) where she's been after spending an evening paying a condolence call. A lost dog brings Richard and Kelly (Edward Herrmann, Kelly Bishop) back together for a short time.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

According to Jim

Jim's (Jim Belushi) friend Beltzman (guest star Mark Belzman) passes away, and Jim is shocked to discover what's gone into the casket to be buried with him. It's a valuable baseball card that Beltzman once stole from him.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

The Starlet

In this new episode, it's time for the four young women remaining in the competition to show us humor. They're at The Comedy Store in Hollywood to act out a scene from "Friends" in front of a live audience. To their surprise, that audience includes judges Faye Dunaway, Vivica A. Fox and Joseph Middleton, who give their critiques on the spot and send one contestant home.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Scrubs

J.D. and Elliot (Zach Braff, Sarah Chalke) try to help Carla and Turk (Judy Reyes, Donald Faison), who are having trouble in their marriage. Kelso (Ken Jenkins) is critical of Cox's (John C. McGinley) bedside manner, so Cox challenges him to show him how it's done. Nell Flynn also stars in the new episode "My Boss's Free Haircut."

8 p.m. on 49-PAX

Lie Detector

Actor David Lander, aka Squiggy from "Laverne & Shirley," gets hooked up to the polygraph in this new episode. Lander is not lying these days about the fact that he has multiple sclerosis, but because he kept it a secret for many years, people assumed his coordination problems were alcohol-related. Also in the hot seat are two people who say they were falsely accused of crimes they didn't commit. Rolonda Watts hosts.

8 p.m. and TNN

Invasion Iowa

Call it "My Big Fat Obnoxious Movie Shoot." In this new miniseries, William Shatner and his entourage descend on tiny Riverside, Iowa, to make a film. That's what they tell the locals, who don't know that these are all actors playing extreme Hollywood stereotypes from the self-absorbed leading lady (Desi Lydic) to the eager but incompetent assistant (Michael J. O'Hara). They learn it was all a scam in the conclusion, which airs Friday.

8:30 p.m. on 6-NBC

The Office

A consultant (guest star Larry Wilmore) comes to the office to conduct a seminar on diversity and racial tolerance in the new episode "Diversity Day." Michael (Steve Carell) tells everyone the seminar was his idea, but actually the consultant was called in because of his behavior. After a re-enactment of one incident in which he behaved badly, Michael holds his own race-relations workshop later that day. John Krasinski and Rainn Wilson also star.

Blind Justice

Another shooting hits close to home for Dunbar (Ron Eldard) in the new episode "Up on the Roof" when his ex-partner, Terry (Sonny Marmell), is shot. It was Terry whose failure to cover Dunbar cost him his eyesight. The gun also happens to be one that was used in the shootings of two gang members. Marisol Nichols, Rena Sofer, Reno Wilson and Frank Grillo also star.

9 p.m. on BRAV

Queer Eye for the Straight Guy

The Fab Five are the sweethearts of Sigma Chi when they make over an entire frat house in the new episode "UNT: Fraternity." Dallas, the first of three projects awaiting them on a trip to Texas. Fab Five fashionista Carson Kressley reports that some of these University of North Texas frat boys had never met a gay person, so they got their attitudes adjusted along with their looks, lifestyles and chapter house.

Wednesday Best Bets

Lost

As Locke and Boone (Terry O'Quinn, Ian Somerhalder) try to get into the mysterious hatch, Locke starts having physical problems, which worries Boone. Sawyer (Josh Holloway) is also hurting — with horrible headaches that Jack (Matthew Fox) is reluctant to treat. Michael and Jin (Harold Perrineau, Daniel Dae Kim) struggle to make themselves understood to each other as they work on the raft in the new episode "Deus Ex Machina."

7 p.m. on 38-WB
Smallville

In the "Unsafe," Alicia (guest star Sarah Carter) returns to Smallville, supposedly cured and eager to reconnect with Clark (Tom Welling). He likes being with someone who knows all about him, but her pushiness is turning him off. When he backs away, she counters with red kryptonite. Also having romantic issues is Lana (Kristin Kreuk), who hopes sex will save her relationship with Jason (Jensen Ackles).

7 p.m. on TMC

Movie: Pulp Fiction

Director Quentin Tarantino's violent, much-praised drama was one of the most controversial movies of 1994. It boasts first-rate performances by John Travolta — whose career was resurrected by the movie — and Samuel L. Jackson as hired killers who often debate life's larger issues. A parallel plot involves Bruce Willis as a corrupt boxer in trouble. Uma Thurman, Harvey Keitel, Tim Roth and Amanda Plummer co-star.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

The West Wing

Plans for the Republican National Convention are going smoothly, while the Democrats are running around like the proverbial headless chickens, causing President Bartlet (Martin Sheen) some heartburn. He asks Leo (John Spencer) to step in and help them get organized. A life-threatening problem with the International Space Station has the staff wrestling with questions of life, death and morals in the new episode "Things Fall Apart."

8 p.m. on 54-UPN

Kevin Hill

In "Homeland Insecurity," Kevin and Veronica (Gaye Duggs, Kate Levering) defend a woman who has been placed by mistake on a list of people who pose a security threat. After work, Kevin goes out with a woman about her dating adventures in a newspaper column, and he is disappointed to find out she considers him just a "nice guy."

8:01 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Alias

Sydney's (Jennifer Garner) life hangs in the balance in the new episode "Tuesday." When a mission goes racing down the tubes, Marshall (Kevin Weisman) may be the only person who can get her out of the situation. A deadly pathogen is released, and Dixon (Carl Lumbly) is right in its path.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: NY

A young man is beaten to death with a baseball bat, and Mac and Stella's (Gary Sinise, Melina Kanakaredes) investigation leads them to a suburban gang. Danny and Aiden (Carmines, Giovanni Vanzetti) trace a hit-and-run death to a love triangle that turns out to have more than three sides. Eddie Cahill also stars in "Tanglewood."

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

A woman's murder at the hands of a troubled young man (guest star Austin Lysy, "Hitch") leads Green and Fontana (Jesse L. Martin, Dennis Farina) to a cult that preaches sex between adults and children. Led by a charismatic woman (guest star Deborah Hedwall, "Trinity"), it's apparently responsible for several suicides. Borgia (Annie Parisse) hunts for a secret book that could put the group out of commission in the new episode "Sects."

9:02 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Eyes

Tim Daly ("Wings") stars in this new series as Harlan Judd, head of a risk management company — a high-tech private-eye operation where investigative services are only the beginning. Garcelle Beauvais-Nilon, Rick Worley, Laura Leighton, Eric Mabius and A.J. Langer also star in the drama, which, like such groundbreaking shows as "NYPD Blue" and "ER," is as much about the characters as the cases.

Left of the Dial

You didn't hear many left-leaning voices on commercial talk radio until Air America, the nation's first liberal talk network, came along to try to break the conservative stronghold on the medium. This documentary tells the stormy story of Air America — which at this writing could be heard on more than 40 stations and both satellite radio services — with commentary.

from Al Franken, Janeane Garofalo, Chuck D and other personalities.

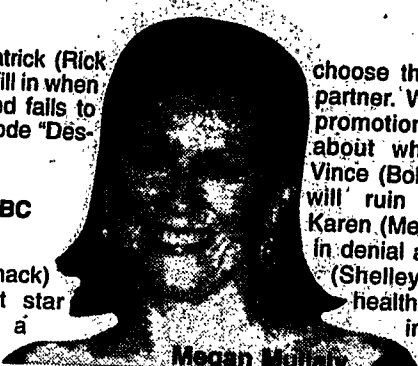

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Jake in Progress

Jake (John Stamos) needs to get away from it all after learning his fiancée is getting married. He wants to go somewhere exotic, but a storm strands him in suburbia. He's stuck at Adrian's (Ian Gomez) house, where a kiddie birthday party is also not going according to plan. Patrick (Rick Hoffman) is asked to fill in when the clown Adrian hired fails to show in the new episode "Desperate Houseguy."

7:30 p.m. on 6-NBC
Will & Grace

Will's (Eric McCormack) boss, Margot (guest star Lily Tomlin), throws a dinner party to choose the firm's newest partner. Will is up for the promotion but worries about whether bringing Vince (Bobby Cannavale) will ruin his chances. Karen (Megan Mullally) is in denial about Rosario's (Shelley Morrison) health. Debra Messing also stars in "Partners."

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC
ER

With his girlfriend gone, a dejected Dr. Carter (Noah Wyle) makes a desperate bid for personal fulfillment in "Damaged." Now a doctor, Abby (Maura Tierney) is ostracized by nurses. Dr. Kovac (Goran Visnjic) comes clean to Sam (Linda Cardellini). Dr. Weaver (Laura Innes) recommends an image overhaul to intern Ray (Shane West).

Friday Best Bets

7.0 m on 8-FOY or 25-FOY

The Bernie Mac Show

Like Chef, the character he voices on "South Park," Isaac Hayes offers some words of wisdom as he guest stars in the new episode "The Music Mac." Bernie (Bernie Mac) discovers that Vanessa (Camille Winbush) has a real gift for music, and R&B legend Hayes has some advice for him on how to nurture that gift.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

Ben (Dave da Loutour) writes an unflattering song about Holly (Amanda Bynes), which makes it challenging for her to maintain a professional post-breakup relationship with him. Val's (Jennie Garth) ability to trust Gary and Lauren (Wesley Jonathan, Leslie Grossman) is compromised after the bakery is robbed on their watch — by a little girl. Nick Zano also stars in "Nobody's Perfect."

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Nick Lachey guest stars as a hunk who turns Faith's (Kelly Ripa) head in "Just in Time." The handsome dude happens to be a dad, so Faith decides to pass her nephew, Justin (Paulie Litt), off as her son in hopes that'll help her connect with him. Faith Ford and Ted McGinley also star.

8 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Kinnin

The Farrelly brothers bring their trademark gross-out humor—including a gag that foreshadows the infamous hair-gel scene in There's Something About Mary—to this tale of an alcoholic ex-bowling champ (Woody Harrelson) and his protege (Randy Quaid). The latter happens to be

The latter happens to be Amish, and bowling is his only vice, but that changes when his mentor introduces him to alcohol, tobacco and female arms. Bill Murray also stars in this 1996 comedy.

8:30 p.m. on 26-

ABC on 13-ABC

Less Than

Perfect
Jeb and Lydia's (Patrick Warburton, Andrea Parker) breakup affects the entire office in the new episode "Amicably Yours," as they go to great lengths trying to make each other jealous. Lydia and Kipp (Zachary Levi) are friends again and could become something more, while Jeb is growing interested in Claude (Sara Rue). Carl (Will Sasso) develops hypochondria after his doctor (Star Jones Reynolds) diagnoses a long list of minor ailments.

8:30 p.m. on 3B-WB

Reba

Reba

Kyra's (Scarlett Pomers) sudden habit of bailing out on family plans concerns Reba (Reba McEntire) in "Mother's Intuition." The rea-comes as a shock to Reba, who discovers Kyra has been spending virtually all of her time with a lonely Barbara Jean (Melissa Peterman). Cheyenne (JoAnna Garcia) starts wondering how sturdy her marriage is, prompting Van (Steve Howey) to try to ease her worries.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Trial by Jury

Kibre (Bebe Neuwirth) has a tough one on her hands in the new episode "Pattern of Conduct" — a basketball star (guest star Darnelle Frazier) accused of killing his girlfriend. Obstacles include his many fans, his wife (guest star Sheri Saum) and even the grand jurors, who are wowed by his celebrity. She has a long list of potential witnesses — women claiming he assaulted in the past — but all are reluctant to testify.

In Focus

Spouses Christina Applegate and Johnathon Schaech play an intertwined couple in "James Patterson's Suzanne's Diary for Nicholas," a new CBS movie adaptation of Patterson's novel airing Sunday, March 27.

What once happened between these characters affects a book editor (Kathleen Rose Perkins) who falls for author Matt (Schaech) and becomes pregnant by him ... only to learn of his ties to Suzanne (Applegate).

Recent events have raised global awareness about tsunamis, and the new "Nova" episode "The Wave That Shook the World" adds to the general understanding of the phenomenon. It airs Tuesday, March 29, on PBS.

The program focuses on the disaster that struck many Indian Ocean communities at the end of 2004, when a series of tidal waves wreaked havoc on the region and killed hundreds of thousands.

Word Link

A shallow, self-absorbed young lawyer (Jason London) is asked to deliver some family legal papers to his grandfather (Edward Asner), who lives in the woods without modern conveniences. Grandfather Jack is no ordinary hermit, however; he is well-traveled and deeply spiritual. Car trouble forces his grandson to hang around and learn a few lessons about what's really important. Missy Crider and Mel Harris also star in this new drama.

Ben Stiller takes over the hosting duties for this year's awards, which honor young fans' favorites in entertainment. "Shrek 2" leads with five nominations, including best movie and best video game, and Hilary Duff is up for awards in movie, television and music categories. Usher could also take home three prizes; two of his songs are nominated, and he is in the running for favorite male singer.

Siblings Carmen and Juni (Alexa Vega, David Spade's daughter) are back in action in writer-director John Rodriguez's fast-moving 2002 sequel, which contains monster messages that parents may want to consider before letting youngsters watch. The adventurous brother and sister, their spy parents (Antonio Banderas; Carmen Gurgino) and two rival spys (Emily Deschamps, Matt Leary) are on the trail of a mad scientist (Steve Buscemi).

IN 10 WORDS: I'm with Her, John Astin, Simon Cowell, Daktari. Answer: Jason Ritter.
